

Syria, Israel Sign Middle East Agreement

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Syria and Israel signed an historic agreement today committing them to silence their guns on the Golan Heights and move toward a lasting peace settlement in the Middle East.

A United Nations spokesman said all signatures were completed at 6:45 a.m. EDT after a last-minute delay caused by Syria's apparent reluctance to sign the pact in the presence of newsmen.

The snag had developed about 30 minutes earlier after Israeli representatives had signed the disengagement agreement. The Syrians, expected to follow, sat still and made no move.

At that time, Lt. Gen. Ensio Silasvuo of Finland, commander of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East who chaired the meeting, announced a 15-minute recess. Newsmen were asked to leave the marbled council hall of the Palais des Nations, the Geneva U.N. headquarters.

And shortly thereafter the problem was cleared up, and the agreement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in a marathon peace mission was signed.

Signing of the pact is expected to end 80 days of fighting on the Heights, start a prisoner exchange and move a permanent peace a step closer to the troubled area.

On Saturday, Israeli and Syrian military delegations begin five days of talks on the disengagement timetable and on precise demarcation lines for thinning out of forces. The troop separation agreement says all its provisions are to be implemented by June 25.

Israel and Syria formally endorsed the pact on Thursday, one day after agreement by the negotiating teams was announced in Jerusalem and Washington. The Syrian endorsement came at a 10-hour session of President

Hafez Assad's ruling socialist Baath party and Israeli approval on a 76 to 36 vote in the Knesset, or parliament.

Israeli Premier Golda Meir, 76, who supported the Egyptian and Syrian disengagements, said the Knesset debate was the last session she would attend before Premier-designate Yitzhak Rabin takes over the Israeli government.

The disengagement agreement contains these points:

—A land, sea and air ceasefire that both sides will "scrupulously observe."

—A rearrangement and separation of Israeli and Syrian forces along the 40-mile front. American officials say Israel will evacuate territory it captured in the October war, as well as the city of Quneitra and six or seven villages captured in the 1967 war.

—Return of all wounded prisoners of war, supervised by the International Committee of the Red Cross within 24 hours after the signing. The morning after military working group completes its tasks, all remaining prisoners will be returned. The prisoners involved include 73 Israelis and 408 Syrians, Moroccans and Iraqis.

—Control by each side of its own air space.

—Repatriation within 10 days of the signing of the bodies of prisoners who have died.

The two sides continue to differ over the type of U.N. presence in the buffer zone. The Syrians have spoken of U.N. "observers," while Israel wants a U.N. "force" to actively protect the truce from violations. There will be 1,250 U.N. personnel with defensive weapons.

At the United Nations, the Security Council met for nine minutes Thursday in an effort to discuss the force, but China and the Soviet Union had the issue shelved on the ground that the pact should be signed first.

Saxbe Curbs Information Freedom Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has revoked a commitment to the independence of a broad study of government secrecy.

Then the lawyer in charge of it resigned in protest.

The dispute casts doubt on the future of the long-range project to assess the extent of government compliance with the federal law requiring disclosure of information to the public.

As developments came to light Thursday, Justice Department officials said Saxbe decided during the past month that he should not have granted the Freedom of Information Study Unit almost total independence from department control.

Saxbe made that commitment in a letter Feb. 19 to Jerry N. Clark, the lawyer chosen by the attorney general to head the $300,000 research effort.

Clark and department officials said the agreement began to unravel about a month ago. Clark submitted his resignation Wednesday.

"I'm disappointed," Clark said in an interview. "They clearly wanted to depart from the original agreement and clearly wanted to assert greater Department of Justice control over the end product."

The study was conceived as an answer to increasing congressional demands for a detailed accounting of executive branch compliance with the 1967 Freedom of Information Act.

The research team of about 15 lawyers and political scientists was to compile the first comprehensive data on the information policies enforced throughout government, particularly in such traditionally secretive agencies as the FBI.

The team was to present the information and recommendations to Congress and the public in July 1975.

Storminess Continues In Midwest

Thunderstorm activity continued today in the Midwest and in southeastern Texas. Flash flood watches were posted this morning for parts of Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Iowa.

Tornadoes were common Thursday afternoon and evening, but had turned into heavy rains by early today. Seven homes were damaged and 11 persons injured Thursday afternoon when a tornado struck Ursa, a small community in western Illinois.

An estimated two to three inches of rain fell in parts of northern Missouri and southern Iowa. Rivers were rising rapidly with flooding expected in parts of northern Missouri.

Rain was falling today from the upper Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes region, with overcast skies spreading into the northeast. Low clouds and fog covered much of the Atlantic Coast. Fair to partly cloudy skies were common in the central and eastern Gulf Coast states and the Upper Plains and northern Rockies. Temperatures cooled off in the upper half of the Plains and Rockies, and in the upper Mississippi Valley. Temperatures were in the forties throughout the area, and in the thirties in some areas.

No ITT Scandal, Jaworski Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the wake of three resignations that decimated his ITT task force, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski admitted that a year-long investigation failed to turn up evidence of a major scandal in the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. case.

Jaworski wrote a letter Thursday to Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Tex., giving a status report on the ITT probe following the resignations of the last of three assistant special prosecutors serving on the task force.

Jaworski said that although the case is not closed, "it is fair to say that there is no present expectation of a disclosure of such offenses."

Sources familiar with the case said they would not rule out the possibility that the task force, to be reorganized under assistant special prosecutor Richard Davis, would continue the probe in the same area. "But right now, the case just isn't there," they said.

The ITT case involved allegations that the government agreed to out-of-court settlement of three antitrust suits against the giant conglomerate in exchange for a pledge of financial support if the 1972 Republican convention was held in San Diego, Calif.

The allegations, based primarily on the celebrated "Dita Beard memo" published by columnist Jack Anderson, were persistently denied under oath by White House, Justice Department and ITT officials.

They led, however, to intensive public hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee, and apparent conflicts in that testimony were the original basis for the special prosecutor's office taking on the ITT investigation.

As a result, former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge connected with his failure to testify completely before the committee. He awaits sentencing.

Jaworski's decision to permit Kleindienst to plead to a misdemeanor rather than prosecute him on felony charges for giving false testimony was bitterly opposed by the ITT task force lawyers. That dispute is understood to have triggered their resignations.

Davis, who has been working closely with the task force for several weeks, is scheduled to prosecute a perjury case against California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke. Reinecke, whose indictment was based on his Senate testimony in the ITT hearings, pleaded innocent and is carrying on his Republican campaign for governor while awaiting trial.

Ford Seeks To Rally GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six months into his tenure as the nation's first appointed vice president, Gerald R. Ford is campaigning to rally a battered Republican party amid repeated Watergate shocks.

To do so, the former Michigan congressman is tirelessly touring the nation, acting like a presidential candidate while insisting "I have no intention of seeking any political office in 1976."

His 25-year friendship with President Nixon, who chose him last October to succeed the resigned Spiro T. Agnew, has been strained by events. But Ford denies a rift exists.

Ford says he and the President have "very good personal relations."

As for the top job, the vice president says he has no doubt of his ability to handle it, but always adds: "I assume it won't happen."

Like the Republican party as a whole, Ford's severest test has been Watergate. So far, he has succeeded in maintaining his equilibrium on 1974's most treacherous political tightrope by criticizing the President's tactics while giving qualified support to Nixon on the substance of charges against him.

Ford repeatedly asserts his confidence in Nixon's innocence. He avoided listening to the Watergate tapes, but says he read most of the edited transcripts.

"They don't confer sainthood on anybody," he replies when asked his reaction to the transcripts. Privately, he indicates he is disturbed about the tone in them.

At the same time, he repeatedly has urged the White House to cooperate fully with special prosecutor Leon Jaworski and the House Judiciary Committee.

Find Body Of Cyclist

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Fred Mundy may have been making a futile attempt to pursue airplanes that were looking for him when he died, his brother Charles says.

A team of Mexican cowboys and two off-duty U.S. Border patrolmen found Mundy's body Thursday about five miles from his abandoned motorcycle in the Baja California desert, 80 miles south of the border.

Searchers said Mundy, 48, apparently walked about 30 miles in a circling path over rocky desert ground, where daytime temperatures exceeded 100 degrees.

They believe he died five to seven days ago.

Mundy, a former football player and experienced outdoorsman from Riverside, Calif., took a wrong turn in a desert motorcycle race May 18. He left his motorcycle when it ran out of gas, and set out on foot.

Nixon Stand May Kill Ellsberg Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has chosen to risk the dismissal of criminal charges against two former top assistants rather than turn over evidence for their defense in the White House plumbers case.

Although slightly easing rules on access to White House evidence, the President restated Thursday his determination to remain the final arbiter of what evidence is released to a federal court.

In a second Watergate case, the White House sought to block an early hearing before the Supreme Court on another attempt to obtain Watergate evidence under Nixon's control.

The high court may rule today whether to assume jurisdiction in that case, in which seven men are accused of covering up the Watergate break-in. Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, pressured by a Sept. 9 starting date for the cover-up trial, is seeking to leapfrog the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to obtain tapes and documents of 64 presidential conversations.

A U.S. District Court has upheld Jaworski's subpoena of the 64 tapes. He wants the Supreme Court to consider the case immediately but the White House wants the case to follow normal appeals procedures.

In the plumbers case, former presidential aides John D. Ehrlichman and Charles W. Colson and three others are accused of violating the civil rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist in 1971 when the former Pentagon analyst leaked the Pentagon papers to the press.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell, scheduled to begin the plumbers trial June 17, ordered presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair to provide written assurances that Nixon understood what might happen if he refused to turn over evidence Colson and Ehrlichman say they left behind in the White House.

In a letter, St. Clair said, "The President is not desirous of having these, or ... any indictments of former governmental officials dismissed without a full and fair trial."

"But he must implement the constitutional responsibilities of his office by not jeopardizing the national security...."

Gesell, who has repeatedly declared his willingness to dismiss the charges if the White House evidence is not produced, has scheduled a hearing on Monday on subpoenas sent to Nixon.

In a three-page letter, St. Clair said the President will permit lawyers for Colson and Ehrlichman to look through hand-written and typewritten notes they say are needed for a fair trial.

In the cover-up case, the White House said in a brief to the Supreme Court that the justices should avoid a "rush to judgment."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Disappointment over persisting interest rate pressures pushed stock market prices lower today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down more than a point, and losers slightly outnumbered gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said hopes had been building up that New York's First National City Bank might lower its prime lending rate today.

But as the market opened the bank, second largest in the country, said it would hold the key rate unchanged at 11½ per cent.

Analysts said some investors were also discouraged by weekly Federal Reserve figures issued after Thursday's close, which gave no indication of abating demand for business loans. Heavy loan demand has been seen as a major factor in the sharp upsurge in short term interest rates this spring.

General Assembly Seeks Fast Windup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 110th Ohio General Assembly will make a run next week at winding up activity for the summer.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said dual floor sessions will be held in the House Tuesday, when it reconvenes, and "maybe two on Wednesday and Thursday."

"The idea is to see where we are on adjournment," he said.

The Senate has scheduled an unusual Monday night floor session in an effort to complete work on important legislation during the week.

It passed Thursday a no-fault divorce bill that would allow couples who agree to a breakup of their marriage to get a court dissolution of it. The vote was 31-0.

Proving a partner at fault, however, would remain in Ohio law for contested cases. The bill now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate amendments.

The Senate Judiciary Committee put into the bill a requirement that public high schools teach a course on family living. The House last Jan. 10 knocked down the idea as too costly for schools. Under present law, even agreed upon divorces can be obtained only if one partner proves another at fault, usually for a "extreme mental cruelty and gross neglect of duty."

In other action, the Senate approved two other bills by 31-0 votes.

One would allow motorists to make a right turn at a red light after stopping unless a sign prohibits it. The other would regulate the seasons, places, methods and fees for commercial fishing on Lake Erie by Ohioans.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, said the fishing bill would implement most of the recommendations of Gov. John J. Gilligan's Task Force on Lake Erie.

It would increase fishing fees for the first time since 1941 and give the Division of Wildlife power to set quotas on certain species taken from the lake.

Tiny Town In California Brings $300,000 At Auction

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The town of Idria, Calif., population 2, complete with 48 bungalows, a general store, church and an abandoned mercury mine, fetched $300,000 at a public auction.

Claire Seipp, a Los Angeles realtor, outbid about two dozen other prospective customers in the auction held in a motel in San Francisco

Struck Plant Will Close

BUFFALO (AP) — Hewitt Robins Inc., whose production workers have been on strike since March 16, announced Thursday that it will cease operations and liquidate its assets.

The plant, which manufactured industrial rubber products, employed 715 persons. It was part of the bulk material handling division of Litton Industries Inc.

Other plants in the division, which were unaffected by the Hewitt Robins move, are in Passiac and Totowa, N.J.; Columbia, S.C., and Sandusky, Ohio.

Members of Local 188, United Rubber Workers, AFL-CIO, struck the plant in a dispute over a new contract. The plant was to close its doors at midnight Thursday.

The company said the strike cost Litton more than $1 million. In a statement, the company said it had informed the union earlier this week that it was considering closing down.

Summit Talk Date Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's summit talks with Soviet leaders will open June 27, the White House announced today.

The date is several days later than expected — an adjustment caused by Nixon's plans to tour the Middle East during mid-June.

The Moscow talks, expected to last about a week, will be the third in a series of summit meetings between Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev. The first summit was held at the Kremlin in 1972 and was followed by the second set of talks when Brezhnev visited the United States last year.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren read the one-paragraph joint announcement of the summit date as White House officials continued to turn aside questions about the timing of Nixon's Middle East trip.

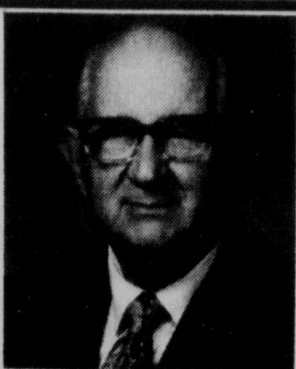

Sugared Items Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government ban on television commercials for sugar-laden foods aimed at children is under consideration, a Federal Trade Commission official says.

"At the present time, the issue is at least open," but a proposed rule may be ready for public comment within a month, said J. Thomas Rosch, director of the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection.

Rosch told a food industry briefing on nutrition labeling Thursday that a ban would have to be based on a determination that children were particularly vulnerable to such advertisements and that sugar posed a particular health problem, such as causing tooth decay.

The earliest recorded successful appendix operation was performed in 1736 by Claudius Amaryand (1680-1740). He was surgeon to King George II (reigned 1727-60) of Great Britain.

Sparkman To Succeed Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama Democratic Sen. John Sparkman says he wants to succeed Sen. J.W. Fulbright as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"I plan to ask for it, and I hope the (Democratic) Steering Committee approves," Sparkman told Mutual News Thursday in an interview from his home in Huntsville, Ala. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who heads the steering group, said earlier that Sparkman could have the job if he wished.

Fulbright was defeated for renomination in Tuesday's Democratic primary in Arkansas. Sparkman, 74, is second-ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee and under seniority rules is in line for the chairmanship if the Democrats retain control of the Senate next year.

To take over the Foreign Relations helm, Sparkman will have to resign his chairmanship of the Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., is next in line for that post.

Fulbright has found himself frequently at odds with the White House over foreign-policy and military matters, while Sparkman has been generally supportive.

In the interview, however, Sparkman maintained "I have not gone down the line with the administration at all." By example, he cited his support of legislation, opposed by the Nixon administration, to restrict a president's warmaking powers.

Say Republicans Hiked Glenn Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A number of Republicans helped nominate Democrat John Glenn for the U.S. Senate in Ohio, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today.

Brown said Cuyahoga County especially showed "quite a few" Republican crossover to vote in Democratic elections.

"Lots of Republicans tried to reach John Glenn—vote for him. Metzenbaum's campaign was geared in such a way they wanted to vote for his opponent," Brown said.

Youth Removed To Death Row

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An 18-year-old Akron youth was moved from the Summit County jail Thursday to death row at the Ohio penitentiary at Lucasville, where he will wait out appeal of his sentence of death in the electric chair.

Carl L. Bayless was sentenced to be executed Sept. 26 for the slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Anthony of Wadsworth. The two were found shot to death in an Akron park Feb. 27.

Summit County Common Pleas Court Judge James V. Barbuto handed down the sentence Wednesday and ordered that Bayless be transferred to the penitentiary within 30 days.

Lottery Depositories Needed Quickly, Officials Claim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Millions of dollars anticipated from the state lottery still have no place to go, state officials said Thursday.

Spokesmen for the state auditor and treasurer's offices indicated impatience with state lottery commissioners on choosing depositories for lottery funds, expected to begin rolling in in August with the first ticket sales.

"What we need is a meeting of the minds," said Wayne Maloon, deputy state treasurer. Maloon said John Kirkland, the lottery's executive director, was expected in his office this week to discuss where, when and how the funds would be deposited.

Apparently the (lottery) director is assuming there's plenty of time between now and August to set something in motion," Maloon said. "Whatever should be happening now."

A spokesman for Auditor Joseph Ferguson's office said a state examiner soon will be transferred to the Cleveland lottery headquarters for assignment fulltime to the commission.

The examiner probably will come

Bowling Green Classes Canceled

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green school Supt. Dr. Robert McCracken canceled classes today for 3,800 students after some 184 teachers walked out over a cost of living contract adjustment, a spokesman for the Ohio Education Association said.

OEA field representative Don Montague said the 184 teaching and nearly 100 non-teaching employees are seeking an 8.8 per cent adjustment in their 1974-75 contracts.

Montague said the board has refused to grant the increase, pending the passage of a 3-mill levy. Montague said the board has stated the adjustment could not be made without the levy and would tend to discourage its passage.

The Bowling Green Education Association was scheduled to meet again this afternoon.

Mainly About People

Edgar Harral, Route 4, has been transferred from the coronary care unit of Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital to Grant Hospital, Columbus in the coronary care unit.

Mrs. B. J. (Elaine) Thompson, 1022 Linwood Ave., has been released as a surgical patient from University Hospital, Columbus.

Rusty Burris, Route 1, Ashville has been dismissed from Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Charles (Marie) Keaton, 412 Cedar Heights Road, is a patient in room 806, Grant Hospital, Columbus.

from Akron University, the spokesman said.

Additionally, about six auditors will be hired part-time to help with lottery audits, he said.

Ferguson said he met with commission chairman David Leahy last week, but that the depository system had not been discussed.

"We're going to discuss that too, later on," Ferguson said. "We've got to get the books set up right away because they have some money to pay salaries up there already."

The lottery was given $2 million by the legislature last year to fund students and pay consultant fees. The money has been held in the state treasury. The plan most talked about involves designation of several regional banks, plus a central bank, Ferguson and Maloon said.

The plan, tentatively, calls for regional banks in Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo, Dayton and Youngstown, said the auditor's spokesman.

Seven or eight banks so far have applied to be the central bank, he said. That bank would receive all the money from the other banks and would be paid either by a set fee or by being allowed to invest a portion of the deposits, Maloon said.

Banks probably would prefer the percentage method, he said.

Rural Crime Examined

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Burglary and vandalism are ranked as the most severe law enforcement problems in rural areas, Buckeye Farm News reported in its June issue.

According to a survey of its readers, respondents believe that youths commit most of the crimes, which also included traffic offenses, larceny, narcotics and trespassing.

Readers indicated drug abuse, broken homes, lenient court sentences for violators, alcohol, unemployment and a lack of parental discipline are responsible for the upsurge in crime, the periodical said.

The magazine said the survey results will be used in the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's oneyear study of rural crime.

Most respondents said they feel law enforcement can be improved. They rated the Ohio State Highway Patrol as the most effective law enforcement agency, according to the magazine.

Extra City School Board Session Set

There will be a special meeting 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the superintendent's office of the Circleville Board of Education it was announced today by Fritz Jacobs, superintendent.

According to Jacobs, the board will be asked to consider roof repair bids, employment of personnel, extra curricular salary schedule and assignments, payment of major medical and term life insurance policies for resigning employees, activity fund, authorization to participate in Title I and Disadvantage Pupil Programs for the 1974-75 year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Disappointment over persisting interest rate pressures pushed stock market prices lower today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down more than a point, and losers slightly outnumbered gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said hopes had been building up that New York's First National City Bank might lower its prime lending rate today.

But as the market opened the bank, second largest in the country, said it would hold the key rate unchanged at 11 1/2 per cent.

Analysts said some investors were also discouraged by weekly Federal Reserve figures issued after Thursday's close, which gave no indication of abating demand for business loans. Heavy loan demand has been seen as a major factor in the sharp upsurge in short term interest rates this spring.

Lottery Depositories Needed Quickly, Officials Claim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Millions of dollars anticipated from the state lottery still have no place to go, state officials said Thursday.

Spokesmen for the state auditor and treasurer's offices indicated impatience with state lottery commissioners on choosing depositories for lottery funds, expected to begin rolling in in August with the first ticket sales.

"What we need is a meeting of the minds," said Wayne Maloon, deputy state treasurer. Maloon said John Kirkland, the lottery's executive director, was expected in his office this week to discuss where, when and how the funds would be deposited.

Apparently the (lottery) director is assuming there's plenty of time between now and August to set something in motion," Maloon said. "Whatever should be happening now," he said, "it should be happening now."

A spokesman for Auditor Joseph Ferguson's office said a state examiner soon will be transferred to the Cleveland lottery headquarters for assignment fulltime to the commission.

The examiner probably will come

Bowling Green Classes Canceled

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green school Supt. Dr. Robert McCracken canceled classes today for 3,800 students after some 184 teachers walked out over a cost of living contract adjustment, a spokesman for the Ohio Education Association said.

OEA field representative Don Montague said the 184 teaching and nearly 100 non-teaching employees are seeking an 8.8 per cent adjustment in their 1974-75 contracts.

Montague said the board has refused to grant the increase, pending the passage of a 3-mill levy. Montague said the board has stated the adjustment could not be made without the levy and would tend to discourage its passage.

The Bowling Green Education Association was scheduled to meet again this afternoon.

Mainly About People

Edgar Harral, Route 4, has been transferred from the coronary care unit of Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital to Grant Hospital, Columbus in the coronary care unit.

Mrs. B. J. (Elaine) Thompson, 1022 Linwood Ave., has been released as a surgical patient from University Hospital, Columbus.

Rusty Burris, Route 1, Ashville has been dismissed from Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Charles (Marie) Keaton, 412 Cedar Heights Road, is a patient in room 806, Grant Hospital, Columbus.

from Akron University, the spokesman said.

Additionally, about six auditors will be hired part-time to help with lottery audits, he said.

Ferguson said he met with commission chairman David Leahy last week, but that the depository system had not been discussed.

"We're going to discuss that too, later on," Ferguson said. "We've got to get the books set up right away because they have some money to pay salaries up there already."

The lottery was given $2 million by the legislature last year to fund students and pay consultant fees. The money has been held in the state treasury. The plan most talked about involves designation of several regional banks, plus a central bank, Ferguson and Maloon said.

The plan, tentatively, calls for regional banks in Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo, Dayton and Youngstown, said the auditor's spokesman.

Seven or eight banks so far have applied to be the central bank, he said.

That bank would receive all the money from the other banks and would be paid either by a set fee or by being allowed to invest a portion of the deposits, Maloon said.

Banks probably would prefer the percentage method, he said.

Rural Crime Examined

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Burglary and vandalism are ranked as the most severe law enforcement problems in rural areas, Buckeye Farm News reported in its June issue.

According to a survey of its readers, respondents believe that youths commit most of the crimes, which also included traffic offenses, larceny, narcotics and trespassing.

Readers indicated drug abuse, broken homes, lenient court sentences for violators, alcohol, unemployment and a lack of parental discipline are responsible for the upsurge in crime, the periodical said.

The magazine said the survey results will be used in the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's oneyear study of rural crime.

Most respondents said they feel law enforcement can be improved. They rated the Ohio State Highway Patrol as the most effective law enforcement agency, according to the magazine.

Extra City School Board Session Set

There will be a special meeting 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the superintendent's office of the Circleville Board of Education it was announced today by Fritz Jacobs, superintendent.

According to Jacobs, the board will be asked to consider roof repair bids, employment of personnel, extra curricular salary schedule and assignments, payment of major medical and term life insurance policies for resigning employees, activity fund, authorization to participate in Title I and Disadvantage Pupil Programs for the 1974-75 year.

County Receives Welfare Money

A total of $5,815,020.97 in welfare assistance money was distributed in April to Ohio's 88 counties, according to Ohio State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Of this amount, $3,576,490.92 went to all the counties to help cover the general relief and administration costs of their welfare operations. The general relief subsidy is derived solely from state revenue.

The remainder of the distribution, $2,238,530.05, went to 84 counties for their administration and purchase of family and children services. This revenue comes from both federal and state funds.

Pickaway County will receive $11,847 of the total amount.

Findlay Company Wins Tax Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Equipment used directly in transforming stone into a different state is not subject to Ohio's sales and use taxes, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled today. The court upheld an Ohio Board of Tax Appeals ruling that National Lime & Stone Co. of Findlay was not subject to the tax on purchases of locomotive cranes, front-end loading vehicles, trucks and holding bins used in crushing stone.

The court said the firm's equipment was directly involved in processing, making it exempt from the taxes.

A Page Of Opinion

Cost Decline, If...

An educational consultant, Dr. Nikolaus Englehardt, has good news for taxpayers in the coming decade, at least insofar as one category of taxation is concerned. Dr. Englehardt sees the bill for public education declining over the next 10 years as a direct result of a lower birth rate.

Births have been on the decline since 1961, when 4.3 million births were recorded.

In 1972, the number of additions to the American family had declined to 3.2 million. Last year it dropped to a point which would not sustain the population at its present level if it continued.

Some school districts, Dr. Englehardt predicts, will experience an enrollment decrease of 50 per cent in the next 10 to 12 years, creating the first real opportunity in many years for serious pruning of education budgets.

There is one big "if" to the Englehardt proposition. In order for the cost factor to act in balance with enrollment, inflation must be stabilized. At the moment that appears to be an awesome obstacle.

Facing the opportunity for meaningful relief from a major area of taxation is an incentive which can only help clear the obstacle.

That's Entertainment

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — For a sobering understanding of just how bad most movies are today, and how good movies were in the past, you must see "That's Entertainment," skimmed from the cream of about 50 years of MGM musical extravaganzas.

It is glorious swatches of another day, a time that will never return. Small casts, sex, violence, sadism and porn are on other screens to stay. But as Liza Minnelli says during her stretch as one of the film's narrators, thank God for the preservation of the record these MGM stars left behind in perpetuity.

"That's Entertainment" is just that. It gives a new generation a chance to see highlights of films that somehow managed to get along without perversion and gutter language; a chance to see close-up the faces that were adored around the whole world when Hollywood was Hollywood and Louis B. Mayer was in his heaven lading rich chicken soup.

How his stars could dance, sing, and glitter! What sets were built as the stages for their specialties! What teeming throngs of extras! All conjured by superb directors, craftsmen and technicians on the "back lot" at Metro, now a stricken junkyard.

The narrators themselves are worth the price of admission: Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby, James Stewart, Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly, Donald O'Connor, Debbie Reynolds, Mickey Rooney, Peter Lawford, Elizabeth Taylor and the aforementioned Liza.

The opening night audience at the new Ziegfeld Theater laughed, but not scornfully, at some of the early efforts of subsequent superstars to gain a foothold at Metro by appearing in its musicals. We see the incomparable Clark Gable as a clumsy buck-and-wing dancer grinning foolishly under his wide-brimmed straw hat, but we also see him bloom as Mr. Christian in "Mutiny on the Bounty," and the night in Atlanta when he spoke at the opening of "Gone With the Wind," we see "The King," poking around with the likes of iron-faced Spencer Tracy, and kissing some of the most beautiful leading ladies ever seen on the screen.

There was laughter in the house over a stiff Nelson Eddy, in his Canadian Mountie uniform, singing versus Jeanette MacDonald. But fond laughter. And guffaws over the legs on some of the early Metro chorus girls (but not the superstars of Joan Crawford, Eleanor Powell, Leslie Caron, June Allyson, Cyd Charisse, Ann Miller, Ginger Rogers, Esther Williams and the incomparable Judy Garland).

The audience spent the rest of the two hours either spellbound by or cheering what people of the past could do with a song, a dance, or a gimmick. Some of the sequences flick by like a bullet, but galvanize or convulse the viewer, for example Buster Keaton's becoming slightly ill with the first bite he takes of a luncheon that brought all the MGM greats together on the 25th anniversary of the company. We see a vibrant Jimmy Durante teaching a juvenile wafer-thin Sinatra how to sing as Durante did, and how to strut "off" after an act, hat held high or adjusting the knot of his tie.

We see Harlow, and her very presence says more than all the millions of words that were written about her. And Chevalier, thanking heaven for little girls like Gigi. And gross, wonderful Wallace Beery; prissy Deanna Durbin; lustrous Lena Horne singing "Honeysuckle Rose"; a trim Mario Lanza, the Philadelphia truck driver who sang like Caruso; Robert Montgomery; Jimmy Stewart and Cary Grant gamely singing something like soprano; Elizabeth Taylor, age 15 and wearing a highnecked schoolgirl's dress, and Esther Williams, fetchingly wet.

One can only marvel at how great was Judy Garland, doing anything;

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is a stomach analysis painful? I have been told that I need this.

—Mr. H. V., Ky.

Dear Mr. V.:

I assume that by "stomach analysis" you mean a study of the contents of your stomach.

This procedure is a painless one, but it is undeniably somewhat uncomfortable. A thin rubber tube is passed through the nose down into the esophagus, and then into the stomach.

Because the tube is iced and the throat is sprayed with a local anesthetic, the experience is not too distressing.

The contents of the stomach are withdrawn through the tube. Then they are studied for the presence of bile, blood, digestive juices, and hydrochloric acid.

The information is a valuable contribution to diagnosis.

It is now even possible to painlessly pass a tube through which can be viewed all portions of the stomach for the same purpose.

Photographs, too, can be taken of the lining of the stomach to aid in diagnosis.

I have had two attacks of quinsy sore throat. Does this mean that I will continue to have repeated attacks?

—Mr. J. E., Vt.

Dear Mr. E.:

A quinsy sore throat is an acute infection of the tonsils and the peri-(around) tonsillar tissues.

Sometimes, an actual abscess occurs in this area. The inflammation, the difficulty in swallowing, and the pain make quinsy sore throat a most unpleasant experience.

There is no way to predict the possibility of having repeated attacks.

what utterly graceful dancers were Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly, what breathtaking beauties entranced those times. What color, what sound!

What ever became of pictures like "The Wizard of Oz," with Judy, Ray Bolger, Bert Lahr, Frank Morgan and Jack Haley? (Haley's son put "That's Entertainment" together.) What happened to "Showboat," with its stunning women like Ava Gardner, and William Warfield singing "Old Man River"? Will anybody ever meet Judy in St. Louis again?

There is a touch of poignancy near the end. We see the incredibly gifted young Astaire, strutting along a platform where stands the 20th Century Limited. Then we see him as he is today, gray, short of strut, narrating beside the rusty remains of that train on the "back lot."

"That's Entertainment" is rated G. As in Gee whiz.

One attack need not necessarily predispose a person to another. Yet, the chances are greater that another attack will occur if the chronic disease of the tonsils is not treated.

Once the tonsils are removed, the recurrence of quinsy is no longer a threat.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Nail biting is a sign of tension. Punishing a child and shaming him does not solve the problem. It probably exaggerates it.

Nixon Hit By Penalty On Taxes

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — President Nixon was assessed a 5 per cent negligence penalty by the Internal Revenue Service in connection with $467,000 he owes in back income taxes and interest, a newspaper said today. The Baltimore Sun, quoting sources familiar with the case, said the IRS included the 5 per cent penalty on April 3 when it assessed Nixon $432,787 in back taxes, plus interest.

The Sun said the dollar amount of the alleged negligence penalty could not be determined.

Nixon has said he would pay the taxes, but the White House has refused to say whether a negligence penalty was involved. The IRS refused comment on the newspaper report, saying it was agency policy not to go beyond what a taxpayer reveals about his own case.

A negligence penalty does not amount to a finding of fraud. It is made for "negligence or intentional disregard of rules and regulations," an IRS spokesman said.

The White House has maintained that any mistakes on Nixon's returns were made by lawyers or accountants who made out his returns, and not by the President.

Lake Erie Fish Take Increases

DUNKIRK, N.Y. (AP)—Commercial fishing is on the upswing in Lake Erie, and it could get better with an assist from the state, one fisherman says. He, like his colleagues who earn their living by catching yellow walleye pike and yellow perch, want to use nets with a smaller mesh size. State law now limits the size to 2 1/2 inches.

"If they don't drop the size we'll be in bad shape, out of business," says Capt. Stanley Case, a fisherman for 35 of his 51 years. Meanwhile, the 1973 yield of fish was reported the best in New York's waters since 1962 and catches this year have been described as excellent.

Hoffa Data Sought

Woody Hayes, head football coach at Ohio State University, gave Circleville Rotary Club a preview of his 1964 team at the club's weekly meeting.

A survey conducted here to determine interest in opening an indoor theater indicated a lack of support. The survey was initiated by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Another survey of the area, made this time by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, sought to determine recreational potential in the county.

Page Ann Miller was crowned queen of the third annual Kiwanis-Charity Horse Show. Attendees were Sandy Shellhammer and Linda Sue Melvin.

John E. Grigg was promoted to the rank of Cadet Lieutenant Colonel, Regimental Executive Officer, of the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

In my position as school psychologist in Circleville City School system I have had the opportunity to work with several aspects of the instructional program. I have worked with the superintendent, the elementary supervisor, principals, teachers, parents and children. I have been in many classrooms, and have observed the day to day functioning of the educational program. I am basing my opinions on observations, not on what someone has told me. My attention is focused only on the instructional program, that is, how can we see that each child works and learns to his level of potential.

In my two years in Circleville, I have seen several changes occur in the educational program which definitely indicate the school system is progressive. The elementary program adopted a new reading program to assure that students were on their instructional level. A new individualized spelling program has been adopted and will be used next school year. Days were set aside for teachers to have conferences with parents, all parents, not just those children who were having academic or social problems. In-service days were scheduled and programs planned to update professionals in the system.

In the area of program development I have seen not only my own job added as a supportive pupil personnel service to the school system, but I have seen programs added to enhance the chance of children learning to their potential. Specifically, the tutoring program for learning disabled children has increased, two Intensive Instruction classes have been added (the second one to start 1974-75) and a new program for slow learners will start at the junior high in 1974-75. The addition of such programs and such services indicate to me that the administration headed by Mr. Jacobs and the teaching personnel are interested in providing the best educational program possible for children in Circleville.

I feel positive, effective changes are occurring in Circleville but perhaps not as rapidly as some would like. Personally, I feel changes must come slowly if they are to be effective. I too see aspects of Circleville's program I would like changed. But, as a professional, I know that hours of planning would have to be done and that teachers and administrators would have to work together to bring about those changes. I look for more and more improvements to be made in Circleville's educational program because I know teachers and administrators will work together for the benefit of the children. I have seen this cooperation already and it will continue.

I would personally have to support Mr. Jacobs as an administrator, again not based on what I've heard but what I have personally experienced.

I have had an opportunity to be involved in case conferences where Mr. Jacobs, principals, teachers and parents have been present. I have found Mr. Jacobs to be unbiased, weighing all the evidence presented. Ultimately his question is, "How can we all work together to help the child concerned? What are our alternatives?"

I have personally found Mr. Jacobs to be fair and honest. He follows the policy as adopted by the board of education and whenever a question arises he refers to the policy to see if it will resolve the question. Board policy applies to everyone. He doesn't make exceptions. I admire him for sticking to the rules, not making exceptions, not playing favorites. This way I personally know where I stand, what I can expect. I know Mr. Jacobs would support me if I am right and would let me know if I am wrong.

I feel that any staff member or any parent in this school system could go to Mr. Jacobs fully confident that he would listen to their problem and would work with them to resolve their problem (following the policies adopted by the board of education.)

It has been a pleasure and a privilege for me to work in Circleville

City Schools. I have greatly appreciated the cooperation of parents, teachers and administrators.

Dear Editor:

Well, aren't we proud of ourselves! The majority of the people of the United States will not be happy until they have destroyed the life of Richard M. Nixon. As I sit writing this letter, I am as angry as I have ever been in my life. I read article after article, day after day in the newspaper. Impeachment, resign, quit. Did you ever stop to think about how much guts it takes not to quit? Or how hard it is to fight with so many against you? Let those without sin, cast the first stone. Who are we to sit back and condemn? Who gave us the right to play God? I'm sick to death with these politicians sitting back on their cans and acting as if they are so holy. Let us record their personal language with family and friends, without mentioning names

So what if our President swears! So what? Is a man to be judged by this? To make such a big deal out of this is ridiculous. And what about taxes? How about IRS checking everyone's taxes? We'd all be scared. There is not but a handful, I'll bet, in the United States who do not cheat on their taxes. Did you report as income the $5.00 your friend paid you for gasoline for driving her to the doctor or shopping? Did you report the $2.00 your mother gave you to sew her dress? Then you cheated on your taxes. The only difference is that the rich politicians sitting in Washington are paying lawyers to help them. So why 'fry' just the President when we are all guilty?

I am a Republican, but, I'm ashamed to say I am not proud of this fact. Nor would I be proud to say I am of the Democratic party. With few exceptions, most of the Republicans are simply worried about what it might be doing to their chances of their future positions. Dog eat dog. And the Democrats; they are gloating. What have we become?

How many of you have stopped to think of the good things Nixon has done? What about Vietnam? Did he put us there? No, but he got us out. What about our relations with China? Has any other President been to Red China to do the job he did. We now have the beautiful Panda bears. What about our higher personal exemptions on our federal income tax. There are other good things the Nixon administration has done for us if you look for them. But are we looking for the good or the bad? Wake up — we are being brain washed.

The communist countries are probably tickled to death to see the United States so torn. When I think how they are looking at us, and seeing us act in this disgraceful manner it disgusts me. We are proving ourselves to be a very weak country. We who are supposed to be the strongest nation in the world. We are a nation? Nation, by definition, means people united under a single government. Is that what we are?

How many people honestly believe in our President but simply do not have the guts to stand up against a crowd and say so? How many of you are guilty again? I only wish I could stand up in front of thousands of television cameras and tell the people of the United States that I think our President is worth keeping. No man is perfect. How many of those people accusing Nixon of so much wrong doing are perfect themselves? I wonder... Are we going to let them run our government, or are we, the people going to run it?

Stand up, damn it, and be counted! This is our country and our President, let us back them both!

Marathon Says Less Gasoline Available

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—The Marathon Oil Co. said Wednesday it will have 5.6 per cent less gasoline available for sale next month than it did in June, 1973.

The firm attributed the decrease to shutdown of eight processing units at its Robinson, Ill., refinery for inspection and maintenance.

A Page Of Opinion

Cost Decline, If...

An educational consultant, Dr. Nickolaus Englehardt, has good news for taxpayers in the coming decade, at least insofar as one category of taxation is concerned. Dr. Englehardt sees the bill for public education declining over the next 10 years as a direct result of a lower birth rate.

Births have been on the decline since 1961, when 4.3 million births were recorded.

That's Entertainment

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — For a sobering understanding of just how bad most movies are today, and how good movies were in the past, you must see "That's Entertainment," sketched from the cream of about 50 years of MGM musical extravaganzas.

It is glorious swatches of another day, a time that will never return. Small casts, sex, violence, sadism and porn are on other screens to stay. But as Liza Minnelli says during her stretch as one of the film's narrators, thank God for the preservation of the record these MGM stars left behind in perpetuity.

"That's Entertainment" is just that. It gives a new generation a chance to see highlights of films that somehow managed to get along without perversion and gutter language; a chance to see close-up the faces that were adored around the whole world when Hollywood was Hollywood and Louis B. Mayer was in his heaven lading rich chicken soup.

How his stars could dance, sing, and glitter! What sets were built as the stages for their specialties! What teeming throngs of extras! All conjured by superb directors, craftsmen and technicians on the "back lot" at Metro, now a stricken junkyard.

The narrators themselves are worth the price of admission: Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby, James Stewart, Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly, Donald O'Connor, Debbie Reynolds, Mickey Rooney, Peter Lawford, Elizabeth Taylor and the aforementioned Liza.

The opening night audience at the new Ziegfeld Theater laughed, but not scornfully, at some of the early efforts of subsequent superstars to gain a foothold at Metro by appearing in its musicals. We see the incomparable Clark Gable as a clumsy buck-and-wing dancer grinning foolishly under his wide-brimmed straw hat, but we also see him bloom as Mr. Christian in "Mutiny on the Bounty," and the night in Atlanta when he spoke at the opening of "Gone With the Wind," we see "The King," poking around with the likes of iron-faced Spencer Tracy, and kissing some of the most beautiful leading ladies ever seen on the screen.

There was laughter in the house over a stiff Nelson Eddy, in his Canadian Mountie uniform, singing versus Jeanette MacDonald. But fond laughter. And guffaws over the legs on some of the early Metro chorus girls (but not the superstars of Joan Crawford, Eleanor Powell, Leslie Caron, June Allyson, Cyd Charisse, Ann Miller, Ginger Rogers, Esther Williams and the incomparable Judy Garland).

The audience spent the rest of the two hours either spellbound by or cheering what people of the past could do with a song, a dance, or a gimmick. Some of the sequences flick by like a bullet, but galvanize or convulse the viewer, for example Buster Keaton's becoming slightly ill with the first bite he takes of a luncheon that brought all the MGM greats together on the 25th

In 1972, the number of additions to the American family had declined to 3.2 million. Last year it dropped to a point which would not sustain the population at its present level if it continued.

Some school districts, Dr. Englehardt predicts, will experience an enrollment decrease of 50 per cent in the next 10 to 12 years, creating the first real opportunity in many years for serious pruning of education budgets. There is one big "if" to the Englehardt proposition. In order for the cost factor to act in balance with enrollment, inflation must be stabilized. At the moment that appears to be an awesome obstacle.

Facing the opportunity for meaningful relief from a major area of taxation is an incentive which can only help clear the obstacle.

anniversary of the company. We see a vibrant Jimmy Durante teaching a juvenile wafer-thin Sinatra how to sing as Durante did, and how to strut "off" after an act, hat held high or adjusting the knot of his tie.

We see Harlow, and her very presence says more than all the millions of words that were written about her. And Chevalier, thanking heaven for little girls like Gigi. And gross, wonderful Wallace Beery; prissy Deanna Durbin; lustrous Lena Horne singing "Honeysuckle Rose"; a trim Mario Lanza, the Philadelphia truck driver who sang like Caruso; Robert Montgomery; Jimmy Stewart and Cary Grant gamely singing something like soprano; Elizabeth Taylor, age 15 and wearing a high-necked schoolgirl's dress, and Esther Williams, fetchingly wet.

One can only marvel at how great was Judy Garland, doing anything;

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is a stomach analysis painful? I have been told that I need this.

—Mr. H. V., Ky.

Dear Mr. V.: I assume that by "stomach analysis" you mean a study of the contents of your stomach.

This procedure is a painless one, but it is undeniably somewhat uncomfortable. A thin rubber tube is esophagus, and then into the stomach.

Because the tube is iced and the throat is sprayed with a local anesthetic, the experience is not too distressing.

The contents of the stomach are withdrawn through the tube. Then they are studied for the presence of bile, blood, digestive juices, and hydrochloric acid.

The information is a valuable contribution to diagnosis.

It is now even possible to painlessly pass a tube through which can be viewed all portions of the stomach for the same purpose.

Photographs, too, can be taken of the lining of the stomach to aid in diagnosis.

I have had two attacks of quinsy sore throat. Does this mean that I will continue to have repeated attacks?

—Mr. J. E., Vt.

Dear Mr. E.: A quinsy sore throat is an acute infection of the tonsils and the peri-(around) tonsillar tissues.

Sometimes, an actual abscess occurs in this area. The inflammation, the difficulty in swallowing, and the pain make quinsy sore throat a most unpleasant experience.

There is no way to predict the possibility of having repeated attacks.

what utterly graceful dancers were Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly, what breathtaking beauties entranced those times. What color, what sound!

What ever became of pictures like "The Wizard of Oz," with Judy, Ray Bolger, Bert Lahr, Frank Morgan and Jack Haley? (Haley's son put "That's Entertainment" together.) What happened to "Showboat," with its stunning women like Ava Gardner, and William Warfield singing "Old Man River?" Will anybody ever meet Judy in St. Louis again?

There is a touch of poignancy near the end. We see the incredibly gifted young Astaire, strutting along a platform where stands the 20th Century Limited. Then we see him as he is today, gray, short of strut, narrating beside the rusty remains of that train on the "back lot."

"That's Entertainment" is rated G. As in Gee whiz.

One attack need not necessarily predispose a person to another. Yet, the chances are greater that another attack will occur if the chronic disease of the tonsils is not treated.

Once the tonsils are removed, the recurrence of quinsy is no longer a threat.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Nail biting is a sign of tension. Punishing a child and shaming him does not solve the problem. It probably exaggerates it.

Nixon Hit By Penalty On Taxes

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — President Nixon was assessed a 5 per cent negligence penalty by the Internal Revenue Service in connection with $467,000 he owes in back income taxes and interest, a newspaper said today.

The Baltimore Sun, quoting sources familiar with the case, said the IRS included the 5 per cent penalty on April 3 when it assessed Nixon $432,787 in back taxes, plus interest.

The Sun said the dollar amount of the alleged negligence penalty could not be determined.

Nixon has said he would pay the taxes, but the White House has refused to say whether a negligence penalty was involved. The IRS refused comment on the newspaper report, saying it was agency policy not to go beyond what a taxpayer reveals about his own case. A negligence penalty does not amount to a finding of fraud. It is made for "negligence or intentional disregard of rules and regulations," an IRS spokesman said.

The White House has maintained that any mistakes on Nixon's returns were made by lawyers or accountants who made out his returns, and not by the President.

Lake Erie Fish Take Increases

DUNKIRK, N.Y. (AP)—Commercial fishing is on the upswing in Lake Erie, and it could get better with an assist from the state, one fisherman says. He, like his colleagues who earn their living by catching yellow walleye pike and yellow perch, want to use nets with a smaller mesh size. State law now limits the size to 2 3/4 inches.

"If they don't drop the size we'll be in bad shape, out of business," says Capt. Stanley Case, a fisherman for 35 of his 51 years.

Meanwhile, the 1973 yield of fish was reported the best in New York's waters since 1962 and catches this year have been described as excellent.

They'll Do It Every Time

Wow! what a four letter word our household is—busy!!! Each day we hold the good thought that the pace will slacken but it only seems to speed up that much more.

To first of all answer the much asked question since our sojourn to King's Island—how is the lion country safari?—let me say that if eyeballing animals is your thing then it should be fairly interesting. Riding the monorail up over a fifty some feet deep natural gorge proved to give this old gal a thrill chill or two.

Furthermore, if you dig standing in a long, long, long line then by all means take in the safari. The earlier in the day you get to that section of the amusement park the better. The early bird avoids the larger crowd—or so it was when we were there.

Those of us who went there more or less first had the shortest wait in line. And if the dress trend continues as it was the day of our visit you can count on seeing lots of skin (human variety, that is). Egads! ninety-nine per cent of the people there that Saturday must have a secret desire to be a nudist.

Sunday was a busy day for every family with a Westfall graduate. Sunday morning during worship service at the Williamsport United Methodist Church seniors who are church members (or affiliates) were honored as is traditional and they were each presented with a book titled, "The Greatest Thing in the World".

In the afternoon was baccalaureate and commencement in the evening held outside under near perfect weather conditions. Following commencement there were parties here, there, and everywhere—big ones, little ones, quiet ones, noisy ones—all celebrating the successful termination of one phase of the graduates growing and signifying the beginning of another life phase.

Our sincere congratulations to each and every graduate and may the path they choose to walk be one paved with happiness, contentment and peace.

Just turned six-years-old Joy Lynn Drummond was the weekend guest of Grandpa and Grandma Bode (that's Doyen and Kathleen) of Adelphi. She went especially to have a fun time during the Adelphi Bologna Festival which is held on the street right in front of grandparents home.

Spending a lot of time down thataway, too, were Marabel Drummond, Sandee and Martha Marquez.

Going down Saturday evening to acquaint Alejandro Garces and Maria Arguello with the event were Dolly Thompson, Melanie Reed, Amy Easterday and yours truly. Dolly's son and my daughter found the bologna to be quite tasty.

An extra added bonus of the evening for me was renewing acquaintance with a long ago dear friend, Mrs. Homer (Jennie) Fetherolf. It had been many years (more than I care to remember) since I had last seen her. She was then and still is one of this old world's really nice people. Jennie's sister-in-law Esther Congrove was with her and it was nice to see her again, too.

Ron and Marilyn Bush and sons Tim and Mike were the Sunday and Monday holiday guests of Marilyn's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin (Doc) Dupler of Somerset. Friday until Monday welcome guests of Luther and Hattie Anderson were her brother Clarence Reid and nephew Edison Reid of Detroit, Mich. Clarence is a former Lt. Governor of Michigan. On Sunday the Reids and the Andersons were dinner guests of Mrs. Bea Anderson.

Monday was a carry-in dinner at the Andersons enjoyed by Floyd and Frances Anderson Thompson of Circleville, Marvie baby Thompson, his Dolly and their Vicki, Shirley, Brad and Colombian son Alejandro Garces and their weekend house guest Randy Howell of Flushing.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean (Wilby Lemming) Parker of Columbus make a weekly visit to our village to "keep an eye on mom" and this week it was (Wednesday). Mom in this instance is Mrs. Omer (Della) Lemming.

Village councilman Harmon Lemming and his Dorothy who are camper enthusiasts joined with brother Harold Lemming and his Mary and their camper from near Buckeye Lake and journeyed to Honda Hills near Linnville, where they enjoyed doing the camping thing from Friday until Tuesday and also the motorcycle rides held there during the weekend. And would you believe that a streaker made the scene. Yep! sure enough during a quiet time in the evening dusk hours the campers heard a cycle start and going around the track was a jaybird streaker.

After a few laps of the track he (or she) streaked into the nearby hills. The track was just far enough from the campsite as to make it a bit difficult to identify the gender.

Our four exchange students, Maria Martha Arguello, Maria Cristina Ramos, Martha Marquez and Alejandro Garces accompanied by this writer had a very pleasant afternoon Friday talking with Mrs. Louise Carle's third graders at Jackson Elementary school.

The youngsters had much interest in what our lad and lassies from far away lands ate in their native homes, school requirements and life in general. They were delighted to be presented each with a poster from her native Brazil by Maria Ramos.

Mrs. Carle is to be commended for her interest in wanting her students to share and learn of other cultures and lifestyles. The exchange students taught the third graders how to count to five in the languages Spanish, Portuguese and French.

On Tuesday each one wrote a thank you note for the visit and these were truly enjoyed by each of the exchange students. They read them while at our home for a farewell evening with our daughter Maria Martha.

She boarded a jet at Port Columbus early today for the first leg of her journey to her native Nicaragua. I could have told you it would pour down rain today because it has rained without fail each of the times we have bade farewell to our four other "kids". Instead of the usual blue Monday this has most definitely been a blue, blue Wednesday for our household. How we miss that sweet little gal!

Good news—sort of—Ray Strawser has been discharged from Riverside Hospital and is now at home at 230 Wendy Lane, Grove City. He is confined to a wheel chair and his home and under circumstances like that a visit from friends and relatives would be most welcome especially for a fellow who is an always on the go type of guy. It surely was good to have Ann (his wifemate) come down for graduation exercises and the reception for Becki afterwards. It had been much too long since we were together.

Jack and Maralyn Armentrout and images' Becky, Peggy and John of Fremont spent Saturday and Sunday with mom Una Higman. On Monday, Lowell Higman and his trio Lora, Sam and Tom of Washington C.H. visited and in the evening daughter Judy Higman Speakman of Clarksburg visited. Also with mom on Monday were Harry and Myrna Higman Hosler and sons Brent and Scott of Circleville. Young Scottie stayed with grandmom while the rest of his family viewed the Memorial Day Legion Post 618 parade and the program that followed.

Soapbox Dept: Howcum all the fuss over "bugging", etc., etc.? How many have read the current issue of a popular men's magazine called "True" and the absolutely yechie article about a certain movie star and country leaders? I can not believe Congress can get so distraught over alleged acts as we have all been saturated with these past many weeks and yet complacently disregard other actions (by what moral standard do they function anyway). I guess it must all be in how the name is spelled.

To any of you Tiger band members who might peruse this column let me add my accolades to all the rest. You were magnificent. What a thrill it was to sit at home and view such beautiful showmanship. I should hope that any spectator at the parade who lived within a fifty mile radius of Circleville would have claimed you as "theirs" and any spectator from the state of Ohio just naturally must have stood a bit taller and prouder when your unit passed by. Hey, Kathy Logan, we had a real good look at you. Neat! Kathy belongs to the Tigers now but at one time she was one of us.

Be with you again next week, should the Lord be willing. Take care. Think about: The man who removes a

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

May Be Love

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I can turn to with this problem because I'm ashamed to tell anyone else, although I haven't done anything wrong.

I'm 22. Six weeks ago my husband was killed instantly in a motorcycle accident. Jimmy and I had been married only eight months and were fantastically happy. My whole world fell apart. I didn't want to go on living and even thought of taking a bottle of sleeping pills so I could join Jimmy.

For a month I sat and stared at the walls. Then Jeff, a friend of Jim's, came over to cheer me up. I looked terrible. He made me fix myself up, and he took me for a long drive. I don't know how to say this, Abby, but all of a sudden all the hurt about Jim left me, and now I think I'm in love with Jeff.

Is it wrong to have these feelings so soon? I loved Jim with all my heart, but now I think I'm in love with Jeff. I think Jeff feels the same way about me although he hasn't said it in so many words. Should I feel guilty? Can this be love?

MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: Yes, it can be love. It could also be a desperate desire to replace Jim and escape from depression. Don't rush into anything, and don't make any decisions or announcements until you are sure of your feelings. You need not feel guilt or shame for honest emotions. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was married for only five weeks last year. The marriage was annulled because her husband went back to his boyfriend. (Yes, you read right. I said "boyfriend.")

Our daughter then resumed her friendship with a fine young man she had known since childhood, and they are planning to be married in church this summer.

Should we send wedding invitations to our friends and relatives? I hesitate to do this because they already gave her one wedding gift. She didn't send the gifts back because she never got around to it.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Invite whomever you want. The matter of a gift will be up to them.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice about what to say when making a condolence call was particularly timely for me. I recently went to the hospital to have a baby I desperately wanted. I returned home with empty arms. Our precious baby was stillborn.

You are right. Not everyone handles his grief in the same manner. Some find comfort in talking about it. Others do not. In my case, I was so crushed, I couldn't bring myself to talk about it. Sensing this, the friends who came to see me said only: "I'm sorry."

All I could say was: Thank you." Abby, please tell your readers that in circumstances like mine the one thing friends SHOULD say is: "Don't feel so sad. You'll have another one," because I will never have THIS one again.

EMPTY ARMS

DEAR ABBY: Re condolences: Many, many years ago we lost our first child when he was only a few months old. Of the many things written or said to me, I recall only one, then or now.

Someone close said: "The only thing I can think of to say is that I love you." Reaffirmation of one's love is important.

By EILEEN EASTERDAY, PHONE 986-3481

Wow! what a four letter word our household is—busy!!! Each day we hold the good thought that the pace will slacken but it only seems to speed up that much more.

To first of all answer the much asked question since our sojourn to King's Island—how is the lion country safari?—let me say that if eyeballing animals is your thing then it should be fairly interesting. Riding the monorail up over a fifty some feet deep natural gorge proved to give this old gal a thrill chill or two.

Furthermore, if you dig standing in a long, long, long line then by all means take in the safari. The earlier in the day you get to that section of the amusement park the better. The early bird avoids the larger crowd—or so it was when we were there.

Those of us who went there more or less first had the shortest wait in line. And if the dress trend continues as it was the day of our visit you can count on seeing lots of skin (human variety, that is). Egads! ninety-nine per cent of the people there that Saturday must have a secret desire to be a nudist.

Sunday was a busy day for every family with a Westfall graduate. Sunday morning during worship service at the Williamsport United Methodist Church seniors who are church members (or affiliates) were honored as is traditional and they were each presented with a book titled, "The Greatest Thing in the World".

In the afternoon was baccalaureate and commencement in the evening held outside under near perfect weather conditions. Following commencement there were parties here, there, and everywhere—big ones, little ones, quiet ones, noisy ones—all celebrating the successful termination of one phase of the graduates growing and signifying the beginning of another life phase.

Our sincere congratulations to each and every graduate and may the path they choose to walk be one paved with happiness, contentment and peace.

Pickaway County Nurses Elect Officers, Learn Berger Hospital History

During the Tuesday evening meeting of Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn. officers were elected and a program on Berger Hospital, public health and nursing homes, presented.

The session was conducted in the home of Pat Mullins, 300 Edwards Road, with Marilyn Reichelderfer as co-hostess.

The following slate of officers was elected for the coming year: Nancy Martin, president; Paula Compher, vice president; Pat Mullins, treasurer; Elaine Bowman, secretary and Cindy Anderson, corresponding secretary.

Plans were made for a picnic to be held 6:30 p.m. June 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Robinson, 103 Reber Ave. Members are to bring table service and those with their last name containing an even number of letters a salad or vegetable and those with an odd number are to bring a dessert. Reservations are to be made with Gladys Robinson by noon on the day of the picnic.

Tommy Kirkpatrick began the panel discussion by saying that 25 years ago public health in Circleville was headed by a health commissioner who was a lay person. He led the administrative work and attended board meetings. He still receives complaints on garbage, trash, water and infections in homes. The sanitarian inspects trailer courts, food booths, nursing homes and other places where there may be health hazards.

Twenty-five years ago the nurse examined school children for pediculid and skin condition. She did the follow-up on polio, TB and X-ray. Now the state incorporates the rheumatic fever program in this. There is a fund for crippled children for corrective shoes, wheelchairs etc.

The Well Child Clinic was started in 1959 and the Pre-Natal Clinic in 1966. Vaccination was started for Polio in 1962 and vaccinations for measles in 1967. At the present time the school nurse is hired by the school board.

Nursing homes were discussed by Mary Walters. She spoke of her experience as a nurse and administrator of The Circleville Home between 1963 and 1970. The number of beds was decreased from 48 to 32 to meet the progressive rules and laws of the state. She pointed out the number and duties

Pickaway County Nurses Elect Officers, Learn Berger Hospital History

During the Tuesday evening meeting of Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn. officers were elected and a program on Berger Hospital, public health and nursing homes, presented.

The session was conducted in the home of Pat Mullins, 300 Edwards Road, with Marilyn Reichelderfer as co-hostess.

The following slate of officers was elected for the coming year: Nancy Martin, president; Paula Compher, vice president; Pat Mullins, treasurer; Elaine Bowman, secretary and Cindy Anderson, corresponding secretary.

Plans were made for a picnic to be held 6:30 p.m. June 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Robinson, 103 Reber Ave. Members are to bring table service and those with their last name containing an even number of letters a salad or vegetable and those with an odd number are to bring a dessert. Reservations are to be made with Gladys Robinson by noon on the day of the picnic.

Tommy Kirkpatrick began the panel discussion by saying that 25 years ago public health in Circleville was headed by a health commissioner who was a lay person. He led the administrative work and attended board meetings. He still receives complaints on garbage, trash, water and infections in homes. The sanitarian inspects trailer courts, food booths, nursing homes and other places where there may be health hazards.

Twenty-five years ago the nurse examined school children for pediculi and skin condition. She did the follow-up on polio, TB and X-ray. Now the state incorporates the rheumatic fever program in this. There is a fund for crippled children for corrective shoes, wheelchairs etc.

The Well Child Clinic was started in 1959 and the Pre-Natal Clinic in 1966. Vaccination was started for Polio in 1962 and vaccinations for measles in 1967. At the present time the school nurse is hired by the school board.

Nursing homes were discussed by Mary Walters. She spoke of her experience as a nurse and administrator of The Circleville Home between 1963 and 1970. The number of beds was decreased from 48 to 32 to meet the progressive rules and laws of the state. She pointed out the number and duties of the inspectors and the change Medicare brought about. She spoke of experience at Pickaway Manor, told how medications are given, the air change and facilities.

Gladys Robinson was a nurse at Berger Hospital when it opened. At that time there was one registered nurse on duty at night and three during the day with one laboratory technician, a janitor and two cooks. The nurses then worked 12 hour shifts. The Service Department was overseer of the hospital and at that time nurses were paid $90 . per month plus room and board. For private duty they made $5. for 12 hours. The eight hour work day began in 1937.

At that time Berger Hospital consisted of 25 beds. Where the lobby and reception desk are now, there was a wing to the north and one to the south with a sun parlor at each end. To the east where the X-ray rooms are now were the operating room laboratory, X-ray, emergency room, delivery room and nursery. One day nurse was on call for surgery or delivery at night.

Norma Gulick told of the modernization of the hospital. In 1954 an addition was added with two rooms for surgery and more patient beds. In 1964 a maternity wing was added with two delivery rooms and two labor rooms. The rooms upstairs over the original building now house offices. The emergency rooms have increased from two to five carts and when the new addition is complete there will be 10 carts.

At the present time there are 112 people employed in all departments. The budget for 1973 was $1,600,000. The payroll was $1,000,000. The cost per day when the hospital opened was $5, in 1942 it increased to $7 and greatly increased beginning in 1948 until in 1965 a room was $44 a day and in 1974 was $90. In 1930 when the hospital first opened a profit of $1.40 was noted. In 1950 practical nurses and nurses aides were added to the staff.

A question and answer period followed reports at the close of the meeting.

Clara Lathouse Receives 50-Year Pythian Pin

Clara Lathouse received her 50-year pin from Pythian Sisters of Majors Temple during a recent meeting at the K of P lodge hall. Presenting the pin was her niece, Mary E. Radcliffe.

The meeting attended by 23 members was presided over by Opal Vance, most excellent chief. A letter was read from Bonna Snyder, grand chief, concerning her project for the Medina Home. Members discussed a rummage and bake sale to make money for the project.

It was agreed to invite all temples in District 2 for Friendship Night. Mrs. Vance announced June 20, as the date Sunshine Girls will entertain the sisters. Reservations for a planned tour in the near future are to be made by June 6th.

A memorial service was held for Agnes Nau and the charter draped for a period of 30 days. Birthdays of Ruby Wise and Della Wertman were celebrated.

Refreshments were served by Ruth Griest, Clara Lathouse and Shirley Hall.

Della Wertman will head the refreshment committee for the June 6th meeting.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Summer is an exciting time! It's a time for vacation, a time for new projects, a time for graduates, a time for fairs, and especially a time for relaxing on long, lazy days. Your County Library can help you capture this summer excitement with many new books to meet your needs.

If you're wondering where to go on that vacation, stop in and check the section on travels. Even if you decide to stay home, you'll enjoy browsing through the lovely pictorial descriptions of far-away places.

For the 'do-it-yourselfers', there's a new group of 'How To' books on the shelf this week. "House and Garden Plans Guide" offers an array of plans for houses and vacation homes. Detailed plans and colorful pictures can help you translate your dreams into reality. "Better Homes and Gardens" offers a set of three books filled with project ideas, building ideas, and ideas to make apartment living more enjoyable. "House Beautiful" has two books out for summer '74. While the building manual will appeal to the men, the home decorating manual will capture the fancy of the lady of the house.

Two new animal books made their bow this week. "The UFAW Handbook on the Care and Management of Farm Animals" edited by the UFAW is a serious work to promote both improved and more humane techniques in animal husbandry. It is written by experts and is well-illustrated. It should prove especially useful to those intending to show animals on the Summer Fair circuit. On the lighter side is "Underdog" by Seigal and Margolis. The mutts of the world are finally coming into their own with a book written especially for them. It your dog doesn't have AKC papers, you'll want to read this handbook on training your mixed breed. While the book is a delight, the material is serious and worth every dog lover's time to read.

Five new fiction titles offer a variety of Summer reading just for the joy of reading. Joan Hemingway, granddaughter of Ernest Hemingway, has written her first novel. "Rosebud" could be from today's headlines. It's the story of five beautiful girls—daughters of some of the most powerful men on earth—last seen aboard the yacht "Rosebud". This fast-paced story finds the yacht on a reckless course with its crew slain, and the girls kidnapped by the Black September. Their fate—to be used as pawns in a plot against Israel. The race against time to save the girls and Israel makes for 'edge of the chair' reading.

For a change of pace try "Fugitive" by Marion Montgomery. It's a rambling, rollicking tale of the town of Weaverton, Georgia, and of a man who is both a classic scholar and thriving country-music writer who comes to Weaverton to make his mark. The lessons he learns from the town and the sights and sounds of the locale make for a rich and memorable experience.

Frank Yerby's new novel "The Voyage Unplanned" is a thrilling tale set in World War II and spanning almost 30 years. It is the story of a love that triumphs over war, world strife, and the fragmentation of modern existence. If you like battle scenes, passion, vivid characterization and riveting plot, you'll enjoy this latest Yerby novel.

"Cogan's Trade" is from the pen of George V. Higgins one of America's best crime novelists. The story revolves around the Boston underworld and crackles with the authenticity that is typical of a Higgins novel. "Ripley's Games" by Patricia Highsmith brings back her intriguing character Tom Ripley. This time he devises a plot that involves several murders, the Mafia, and a lot of money. It's a suspense story written in her best hypnotic art.

"Love Affair" by Ruth Klingman is a new non-fiction offering. It is a touching portrait of Jackson Pollack, one of the greatest of American painters. The writing is simple but the story of Miss Klingman's love for this overwhelming genius is powerful and moving. It is searing, tragic, and true. "Love Affair" is a fascinating portrait of both Pollack and the author.

For the graduate thinking about the future, look for "Your Career Selection Guide" by Allan Goldenthal. It describes over a hundred demand occupations and lists the personal and educational qualifications required for each. It also shows how to evaluate your own qualifications to select the right career for you. "Theories of Personality" edited by Lindzey, Hall and Manosevitz is an organized, comprehensive view of the current status of personality theory and research.

Chiropractics and childbirth are the two new books in medicine. "Chiropractic Speaks Out" by Chester A. Wilk, D. C. is a reply to medical propaganda, bigotry, and ignorance in this field as discussed by a member of that profession. "New Miracles of Childbirth" by Elliott H. McCleary is a discussion of how modern medical miracles are making childbearing safer and easier.

If paperbacks appeal to you, many new titles are being added to the collection weekly.

Catch the summer excitement! Be sure to make frequent visits to your library during the summer.

Summer is an exciting time! It's a time for vacation, a time for new projects, a time for graduates, a time for fairs, and especially a time for relaxing on long, lazy days. Your County Library can help you capture this summer excitement with many new books to meet your needs.

If you're wondering where to go on that vacation, stop in and check the section on travels. Even if you decide to stay home, you'll enjoy browsing through the lovely pictorial descriptions of far-away places.

For the 'do-it-yourselfers', there's a new group of 'How To' books on the shelf this week. "House and Garden Plans Guide" offers an array of plans for houses and vacation homes. Detailed plans and colorful pictures can help you translate your dreams into reality. "Better Homes and Gardens" offers a set of three books filled with project ideas, building ideas, and ideas to make apartment living more enjoyable. "House Beautiful" has two books out for summer '74. While the building manual will appeal to the men, the home decorating manual will capture the fancy of the lady of the house.

Two new animal books made their bow this week. "The UFAW Handbook on the Care and Management of Farm Animals" edited by the UFAW is a serious work to promote both improved and more humane techniques in animal husbandry. It is written by experts and is well-illustrated. It should prove especially useful to those intending to show animals on the Summer Fair circuit. On the lighter side is "Underdog" by Seigal and Margolis. The mutts of the world are finally coming into their own with a book written especially for them. It your dog doesn't have AKC papers, you'll want to read this handbook on training your mixed breed. While the book is a delight, the material is serious and worth every dog lover's time to read.

Five new fiction titles offer a variety of Summer reading just for the joy of reading. Joan Hemingway, granddaughter of Ernest Hemingway, has written her first novel. "Rosebud" could be from today's headlines. It's the story of five beautiful girls—daughters of some of the most powerful men on earth—last seen aboard the yacht "Rosebud". This fast-paced story finds the yacht on a reckless course with its crew slain, and the girls kidnapped by the Black September. Their fate—to be used as pawns in a plot against Israel. The race against time to save the girls and Israel makes for 'edge of the chair' reading.

For a change of pace try "Fugitive" by Marion Montgomery. It's a rambling, rollicking tale of the town of Weaverton, Georgia, and of a man who is both a classic scholar and thriving country-music writer who comes to Weaverton to make his mark. The lessons he learns from the town and the sights and sounds of the locale make for a rich and memorable experience.

Frank Yerby's new novel "The Voyage Unplanned" is a thrilling tale set in World War II and spanning almost 30 years. It is the story of a love that triumphs over war, world strife, and the fragmentation of modern existence. If you like battle scenes, passion, vivid characterization and riveting plot, you'll enjoy this latest Yerby novel.

"Cogan's Trade" is from the pen of George V. Higgins one of America's best crime novelists. The story revolves around the Boston underworld and crackles with the authenticity that is typical of a Higgins novel. "Ripley's Games" by Patricia Highsmith brings back her intriguing character Tom Ripley. This time he devises a plot that involves several murders, the Mafia, and a lot of money. It's a suspense story written in her best hypnotic art.

"Love Affair" by Ruth Klingman is a new non-fiction offering. It is a touching portrait of Jackson Pollack, one of the greatest of American painters. The writing is simple but the story of Miss Klingman's love for this overwhelming genius is powerful and moving. It is searing, tragic, and true. "Love Affair" is a fascinating portrait of both Pollack and the author.

For the graduate thinking about the future, look for "Your Career Selection Guide" by Allan Goldenthal. It describes over a hundred demand occupations and lists the personal and educational qualifications required for each. It also shows how to evaluate your own qualifications to select the right career for you. "Theories of Personality" edited by Lindzey, Hall and Manosevitz is an organized, comprehensive view of the current status of personality theory and research.

Chiropractics and childbirth are the two new books in medicine. "Chiropractic Speaks Out" by Chester A. Wilk, D. C. is a reply to medical propaganda, bigotry, and ignorance in this field as discussed by a member of that profession. "New Miracles of Childbirth" by Elliott H. McCleary is a discussion of how modern medical miracles are making childbearing safer and easier.

If paperbacks appeal to you, many new titles are being added to the collection weekly.

Catch the summer excitement! Be sure to make frequent visits to your library during the summer.

OU Professor Admonished For Incident

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A faculty committee at Ohio University has admonished an art lecturer who approved a student's dash through the infield during a Cincinnati Reds game for "lack of responsibility."

The committee added, however, that lecturer Wayne Jewett's action "was not as serious as was indicated in The Associated Press release, and the item was blown out of proportion by circumstances beyond his control."

The statement was issued by the professional relations committee of the university faculty senate. The statement said Jewett showed "lack of responsibility and poor judgment in the circumstances surrounding the incident."

Jewett was serving under a one-year appointment to OU as a visiting lecturer in art. During his course, he said, he told his students to do something they found embarrassing in order to break down their inhibitions.

He said after the incident that he had approved the midgame dash as an acceptable project.

After saying the incident was blown out of proportion, the committee concluded:

"Nonetheless, we must recognize that such unfortunate consequences as have resulted from the press treatment of this incident often follow on the exercise of poor judgment on matters of smaller scope."

A university spokeswoman said one reason for the university's concern was that many alumni who read press reports mistakenly assumed the student was following a fad of streaking nude, while he actually was clothed.

River Rise Delays Barge Salvage

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An anticipated seven-foot rise in the Ohio River is expected to delay salvage of a 4,000-ton sunken barge containing 160,000 gallons of concentrated sulphuric acid near downtown Cincinnati.

A spokesman for Beatty Marine Co., the salvage firm, said recent rains would probably delay operations. Divers were scheduled to inspect the barge today.

The barge, owned by the E. I. Dupont Co., sank last week when the tow, operated by the Inland Towing Co., crashed into pilings at the construction site of a new Interstate 471 bridge between Newport, Ky., and Cincinnati.

Irish Protestants More Militant

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Two years ago the Union Jacks which flew over Protestant strongholds in Shankill Road and Sandy Row attested to an unshaken allegiance to the British Crown.

Today the same flagpoles defiantly fly the red and white of Ulster, and the Protestant militants of the Ulster Workers' Council are sounding almost as anti-British as their sworn foes, the Roman Catholics.

This is the political paradox of Northern Ireland: the bloody five-year feud between Protestants and the Catholic minority has given them a common enemy — the British.

The defiant Protestants paralyzed Northern Ireland with a 15-day general strike and shattered the delicate British blueprint for power-sharing in the province.

The toppled provincial coalition government of Catholics and Protestants was the whole basis of Britain's political design to beat the Catholic-based Irish Republican Army's urban guerrillas.

But the council was shelved during the strike. The British design lies in ruins. Now, with the celebration bonfires still burning in Belfast's Protestant back streets, the question is: What next?

One idea increasingly popular among grass-roots Protestants is an independent Ulster.

Independence was one of three alternatives seriously proposed to British leaders Thursday by three Protestant chiefs, the Rev. Ian

Judge Bars Florida Firm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Montgomery County judge has issued a temporary restraining order against Camelon, Inc., a Florida firm accused by Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown of operating a pyramid-sales operation. Brown said the firm does business in Ohio as AKO Enterprises.

The order was issued by Common Pleas Judge Stanley S. Phillips.

Brown has accused the firm of violating Ohio's Consumer Sales Practices Act by allegedly using referral sales techniques and allegedly leading consumers to believe investment in the company would make them rich.

Brown said his lawsuit was based on an investigation by the Ohio Commerce Department's securities division.

A hearing on a preliminary injunction against the firm has been set for June 10.

Cincinnati Girl Wounded In Mishap

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Karen New, 16, a sophomore at Cincinnati Withrow High remained in serious condition today following a gun accident during a hooky-playing incident.

A 16-year-old boy, who invited Karen to his home, was charged with negligent assault as a juvenile. He told police the pistol went off accidentally striking Karen in the stomach.

Forecast

NORTHWEST INLAND WEST LAKE SHORE

Cloudy tonight. Lows in the low to mid 50s. Partly cloudy and cooler Saturday. Highs in the upper 60s and low 70s.

WEST CENTRAL SOUTHWEST CENTRAL

Cloudy tonight with showers likely and a chance of thundershowers. Lows in the mid to upper 50s. Partly cloudy and not as warm Saturday. Highs in the low 60s.

EAST CENTRAL SOUTHEAST

Showers and thundershowers tonight. Lows in the upper 50s. Partial clearing and not as warm Saturday. Highs in the low 70s.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More showers and thundershowers are likely throughout Ohio today with the heaviest expected over the northern tier of counties.

Rains were scattered over the central and southern sections during the night. Cincinnati received about one half inch of rain in a thundershower Thursday evening. Skies have been generally cloudy over northern counties and temperatures were in the 60s during the night.

Temperatures Friday will range from the middle 70s to the lower 80s. The showers and thundershowers will persist well into the night in all but the northwest corner of the state. As the rain ends tonight cooler air will flow in bringing temperatures in the 50s in contrast to last night's 60s. There will be some sunshine Saturday, helping to counteract the cooler air.

More showers and thundershowers are likely throughout Ohio today with the heaviest expected over the northern tier of counties.

Rains were scattered over the central and southern sections during the night. Cincinnati received about one half inch of rain in a thundershower Thursday evening. Skies have been generally cloudy over northern counties and temperatures were in the 60s during the night.

Temperatures Friday will range from the middle 70s to the lower 80s. The showers and thundershowers will persist well into the night in all but the northwest corner of the state. As the rain ends tonight cooler air will flow in bringing temperatures in the 50s in contrast to last night's 60s. There will be some sunshine Saturday, helping to counteract the cooler air.

Paisley, Harry West and William Craig

Craig, leader of the extremist Vanguard movement, has long talked of a negotiated independence in the hope that Protestants and Catholics could find a common allegiance to Northern Ireland.

By contrast, the Catholic-based Irish Republican Army's nationalist Provisional Wing has long pressed to make Ulster a Protestant-governed province in a united Ireland.

The Catholics evidently saw that Protestant discontent might lead to British withdrawal. All during the two-week strike the IRA kept unusually quiet, suspending all its bombing attacks.

One sign of growing Protestant disenchantment with the British was an unlikely lapel badge worn by strike supporters — a piece of sponge.

It was a mark of derision for British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who went on nationwide television Saturday and accused the Northern Irish of "sponging" off the British taxpayer for military assistance.

The strike simply hardened and so too, have the thoughts of an independent Ulster.

Find Biggest Stories Often Religious

NEW YORK (AP) — Hindsight puts events in clearer perspective and points up the really decisive occurrences, the news that shapes history. From that long-range view, some experts have found that the biggest stories often have been religious.

"It came as a great surprise," says Will H. Yolen, chairman of the publishing committee of the Overseas Press Club. The club's board, made up of veteran correspondents, whittled the list to 23 top events for a book to be called "Newsbreak."

Union Does Well On Endorsements

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Community Action Program, political arm of the powerful United Auto Workers union, struck out with its endorsement of U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, but came out of the May 7 primary with an impressive batting average.

The Community Action Program endorsed 25 candidates in 33 contested races for the Ohio House and had 22 winners for an average of .880. It had five of seven winners for Ohio Senate nominations and that figured out to .734.

It lost on Metzenbaum to winner John Glenn, but it had productive endorsements in Gov. John J. Gilligan, Richard F. Celeste for Democratic lieutenant governor and Tony P. Hall of Dayton, Democratic nominee for secretary of state.

The UAW council in its publication "Bulletin" told UAW members, "The name game in Ohio politics was dealt a serious blow."

It noted that both Celeste and Hall defeated candidates by the name of

Brown "and will face the same again in the November election."

Celeste and Hall face incumbent Lt. Gov. John W. Brown and veteran GOP Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The union publication offered no comment on the outcome of the Glenn-Metzenbaum race. It merely noted the UAW endorsed candidates in each of the four statewide races, "winning three."

Rep. John T. "Tim" McCormack, D-18 Euclid, won his party's nomination for the Ohio Senate from the 31st District. With that victory went the right to oppose Sen. Charles P. Bolton of Mentor, the Republican incumbent, in the November election.

This northeast Ohio area sent Charles Bolton's father and grandmother to Congress as the first mother-son team in congressional history.

"It's like running against the Lodge family in Massachusetts," said McCormack.

A couple of fire security experts showed Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and key aides around their 14th floor offices in the State Office Tower the other day.

"Now here is the fire alarm," said one of the experts. "I'm going to turn it on to show you how it sounds and then I will turn it off. They know down at the fire department I'm going to do this so they won't answer this alarm."

The expert turned on the alarm, but he couldn't turn it off. Finally his assistant telephoned downstairs security and asked them to stop the bells. That worked.

Not dampened, the fire expert told Brown how safe the building was from a fire.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's new 55-mile per hour speed limit has cut state traffic fatalities by 20 per cent, the Ohio Department of Highway Safety has estimated.

Frederick Vierow, agency director, said use of seat belts and shoulder harnesses could cut the fatal count by another 20 per cent.

Armco Sets Up Coal Operation

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—A new coal mine operation in Raleigh County, W. Va., will mean up to 375 mining-related jobs when the operation is in full production in 1976, a spokesman for Armco Steel Corp. said.

W. D. Browning, vice president of engineering and materials with the firm said Armco's Montcoal Preparation Plant No. 7 will begin mining this year.

The site is near Edwight, W. Va., and will be Armco's fourth operation in the state.

Plans call for continuous production in the two-portal mine, combined with conveyors and unit train loadings.

Union Does Well On Endorsements

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Community Action Program, political arm of the powerful United Auto Workers union, struck out with its endorsement of U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, but came out of the May 7 primary with an impressive batting average.

The Community Action Program endorsed 25 candidates in 33 contested races for the Ohio House and had 22 winners for an average of .880. It had five of seven winners for Ohio Senate nominations and that figured out to .734.

It lost on Metzenbaum to winner John Glenn, but it had productive endorsements in Gov. John J. Gilligan, Richard F. Celeste for Democratic lieutenant governor and Tony P. Hall of Dayton, Democratic nominee for secretary of state.

The UAW council in its publication "Bulletin" told UAW members, "The name game in Ohio politics was dealt a serious blow."

It noted that both Celeste and Hall defeated candidates by the name of

Brown "and will face the same again in the November election."

Celeste and Hall face incumbent Lt. Gov. John W. Brown and veteran GOP Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The union publication offered no comment on the outcome of the Glenn-Metzenbaum race. It merely noted the UAW endorsed candidates in each of the four statewide races, "winning three."

Rep. John T. "Tim" McCormack, D-18 Euclid, won his party's nomination for the Ohio Senate from the 31st District. With that victory went the right to oppose Sen. Charles P. Bolton of Mentor, the Republican incumbent, in the November election.

This northeast Ohio area sent Charles Bolton's father and grandmother to Congress as the first mother-son team in congressional history.

"It's like running against the Lodge family in Massachusetts," said McCormack.

A couple of fire security experts showed Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and key aides around their 14th floor offices in the State Office Tower the other day.

"Now here is the fire alarm," said one of the experts. "I'm going to turn it on to show you how it sounds and then I will turn it off. They know down at the fire department I'm going to do this so they won't answer this alarm."

The expert turned on the alarm, but he couldn't turn it off. Finally his assistant telephoned downstairs security and asked them to stop the bells. That worked.

Not damped, the fire expert told Brown how safe the building was from a fire.

Enarson Rejects Demands

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The president of the Ohio State University has rejected a list of black student demands, saying the university cannot yield to "unilateral demands...based only on loose charges."

President Harold Enarson said OSU has a continuing commitment to racial progress, but the university cannot be forced into "unwise academic, administrative or personnel changes."

The list of demands was issued May 17. It called for immediate implementation of a Black Culture Center proposal and assignment of a building for that purpose, designation of the center as an administrative arm of the Office of Minority Affairs, an adequate budget for the center and appointment of a coordinator.

In an open letter to students, Enarson said OSU already has designated a building for the center and pledged financial support. He urged the center's advisory board to meet with university administrators to begin making the center a reality.

"No program at Ohio State does or can have a pledge for an ongoing level of financial support from this university," Enarson added. "Each program must compete on its merits...and each program must be constantly re-evaluated as to its ongoing worth."

Other demands included increased hiring of black faculty members, more financial aid for black students, re-examination of affirmative action and preferential hiring programs and promotion of blacks to "compensate for past exclusion."

Steel Firms Enter Pleas In Price-Fix

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Four steel companies and one individual have pleaded no contest to federal charges of violating antitrust laws in the sale of millions of dollars of steel bars in Louisiana.

One other steel fabricating company and four individuals pleaded innocent on Wednesday to the same charges.

U.S. District Court Judge James A. Comiskey accepted both sets of pleas. The firms, indicted by a federal grand jury in April, included Armco Steel Corp., one of the nation's three largest steel producers.

Armco, of Middletown, Ohio, was among those pleading no contest. Wilford L. Whitley, antitrust attorney for the U.S. Justice Department, had asked the judge to reject the no contest pleas.

"It might appear we have let the big fish go and are trying the little people," he said.

The companies were charged with illegal conspiracy to allocate among themselves construction contracts requiring the use of steel bars, which are used to reinforce concrete in highways, bridges and buildings.

Ohio Senate Gets Judgeships Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Freed of a controversial provision to abolish mayors' courts, an omnibus bill creating 37 new judgeships in Ohio has been approved by the House and sent to the Senate.

House Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, the sponsor, won 69-21 approval of the embattled measure Wednesday on a vote of reconsideration.

The House had rejected the measure earlier — even without the mayors' courts provision — by a vote of 52-38. Sixty six votes, or two-thirds of the House, were needed on the measure because it creates new courts.

New municipal courts would be created in New Philadelphia and Wadsworth under the measure which now faces an uncertain fate in the Senate.

Senators are expected to want to add more judges to the omnibus measure, a development that could prolong hearings and cause the bill to die when the legislature adjourns later this month.

A Legislative Service Commission study of the need for more courts and judges is under way, and some lawmakers would prefer to await its results, they said.

Wilkowski's bill would add five new municipal judges to Hamilton County

Municipal Court and two each to Toledo and Franklin County Municipal Courts. Those in Bedford, Garfield Heights, and Wooster would get one new municipal judge each.

Five new judges would be added to Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Courts, three each to those in Lucas and Montgomery counties, and one to Summit County Common Pleas Court. Common pleas courts in Geauga, Hancock, Marion, Ross, Trumbull and Franklin counties also would get one new judge each.

In addition, the bill gives the domestic relations divisions of Franklin and Trumbull counties' common pleas courts one judge each.

It also creates three new judgeships in the 8th District Court of Appeals (Cleveland) and two in the 1st District Court of Appeals (Cincinnati).

The bill also contains a salary increase for municipal judges. Full time judges would go from $30,000 to $31,000, or $2,000 less than the common pleas judges in their counties earn, whichever is lesser.

Part time municipal judges would be increased from $8,000 to $11,000 annually, and in addition would receive 18 cents per capita of population.

No Indictments In Police Probe

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A Cuyahoga County grand jury investigating charges of police corruption here indicted no one Thursday but issued a report with 10 recommendations to help right what it called a record of indifference to "cheat spots."

The 12-page report said that after interviewing more than 20 witnesses the jurors found "an atmosphere of toleration, condoning and indifference, if not an atmosphere of favoritism ... with respect to cheat spots operating."

The jurors wrote that they were not surprised that qualities such as discipline, respect and competency were replaced by "something less than quality police work," especially among new, young patrolmen.

Jury foreman Samuel H. Miller said the grand jury found insufficient evidence to indict an inspector and three captains who had been accused of taking bribes to let a cheat spot operate.

Gov. Winfield Dunn of Tennessee, addressing 500 party faithful at a $125-a-plate dinner in Dayton, cited President Nixon's record in foreign policy and vowed to continue to support Nixon unless he is proven guilty of an impeachable offense.

Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk, GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate, told a Marion audience Nixon will go down in history as being a great President and predicted Republicans would triumph in 1974 over "prevailing negativism."

The dinners were among four GOP fund-raisers held around the state Thursday night. Gov. James E. Holshouser of North Carolina spoke at a Canton gathering and former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, candidate for another term, addressed a Lima audience.

Dunn, chairman of the GOP governors association, said Republicans must work hard to roll back the wave of Democratic governors, who now occupy 32 of the 50 statehouses.

He praised Ohio Republicans as "the right way" to conduct politics.

In outlining accomplishments of the Nixon administration, Perk listed improved relations with China and Russia, "peace with honor" in Vietnam and disengagement of forces in the Middle East.

He cited the federal revenue-sharing program as an example of how the administration is returning the government to the people.

"Can you show me a President with a better record of accomplishment?" he asked 190 persons in attendance.

Federal Cash Sought For Child Welfare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Public Welfare says it has asked the federal government for $650,000 to fund a series of management training courses for child welfare personnel.

Department director Charles W. Bates said if the proposal is approved by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the state will contract with nine state colleges to conduct the training.

Willie's Dillies

By A Benchwarmer

Informed sources claim Willie's champing at the bit to escape from his Scioto St. home. Seems he's not the type to remain a house person for long.

"As the World Turns" and "General Hospital" aren't his cup of Constant Comment, so he takes some books from the shelf, fluffs up some pillows, and stretches out on the couch. And that can be awfully boring for a Bill-type person.

The doctors will release a preliminary progress report in a couple of weeks, and we sincerely hope it's a good one.

Youth baseball will fill Circleville's diamonds Monday with four games on the schedule, including two under the lights at Ted Lewis Park.

Three diamonds at the fairgrounds will be ready for play June 10.

As in the past, The Herald will carry schedules, standings, and results for each league.

However, to make our system as accurate as possible and to keep things current, we will accept previous day's scores and game highlights until 8 a.m. the following morning. Results after the deadline will be discarded.

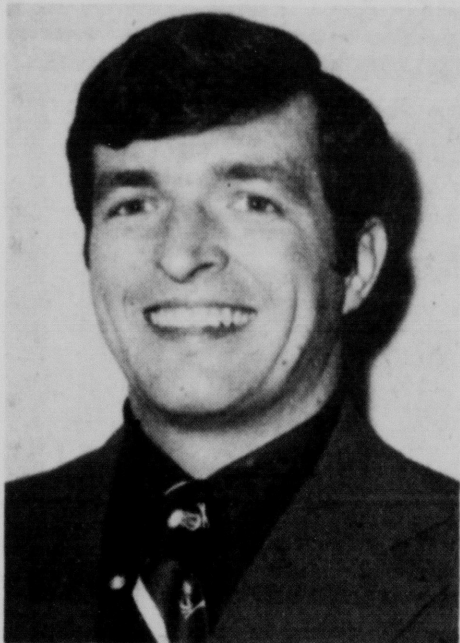

Scores should be reported on official Herald sheets available to each manager. Winning managers have the responsibility of reporting.

Fearless forecasting - The Reds will spoil the Riverfront Stadium debut of the Pirates ... the Indians will be poor hosts to Kansas City ... Odell Massie looks good in the Kemper Open ...

Until next time, be a good sport - have a nice day.

Logan Elm Names Head Grid Coach

Perry E. Griffith, a graduate of Worthington High School and Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, has been named head football coach at Logan Elm High School, succeeding Bob Stant.

PERRY E. GRIFFITH

Griffith, 28, was one of over 50 applicants for the position. Last year he was an assistant coach and administrative aide in the Universal Professional Football League.

His prior coaching experience includes a year at Delaware Hayes High School where he was varsity assistant and head freshman football coach and assistant wrestling coach. He served four years at Bexley High school on the football coaching staff, his last year as interim head coach. The Bexley squad had its first winning season in 14 years under Griffith with a 6-3 record. He was also head wrestling coach at Bexley.

During the 1972-73 year he was reserve football coach, coach of varsity receivers and defensive scout at the University of Dayton. In 1973 he coached at Centerville High School as defensive co-ordinator.

Griffith was a four year letterman in high school in both football and wrestling. He played one year of college football, gaining a starting birth as a freshman, but a knee injury ended his playing career.

Griffith will teach either biology or general science at Logan Elm. In addition to his bachelor of science degree, he holds a masters from the University of Dayton. He has a provisional high school principal's certificate.

Cleveland Indians Seeking Comeback

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians return home from their nine-game trip beaten — statistically and physically.

The Indians dropped six of their nine encounters on the road and slipped to fifth place in the American League East Division, two games under the .500 mark.

When they open their three-game series against the Kansas City Royals tonight four Tribe regulars will have question marks before their names in the starting lineup because of injuries received during their recent tour.

Third baseman Buddy Bell reinjured his knee, center fielder George Hendrick has an injured wrist, second baseman Jack Brohamer has an injured rib cage and John Lowenstein, who has been playing left field and third base, has an injured thumb.

Bell and Hendrick have been missing from the lineup completely because of their injuries. Lowenstein has been playing sporadically and Brohamer has been in the lineup with a lot of pain.

Manager Ken Aspromonte is hoping for the return of Bell and Hendrick tonight when the Tribe's Steve Kline (7-7) goes against the Royals Al Fitzmorris (4-2).

The injuries forced Aspromonte to do some shuffling with his lineup. Lowenstein was moved from leftfield to thirdbase to replace Bell. Loren Lee has been playing leftfield and Rusty Torres has been seeing action in center.

When Lowenstein's thumb isn't feeling too well Aspromonte has been using Jack Heidemann at third-base. Pitcher Fritz Peterson may also miss his next turn in rotation. He pulled a muscle in his side in the second inning of the Tribe's game with the Texas Rangers on Wednesday.

On Saturday afternoon Jim Perry will be seeking his fourth victory against four defeats for the Tribe against the Royals Bruce Dal Canton (3-2).

Gaylord Perry will be out for his ninth consecutive victory on Sunday afternoon. Perry has recorded only one loss this season and that was on opening day against the Yankees in New York. The Royals have scheduled Paul Splittorff (5-4) for their Sunday mound chores.

Team 5 Leads PCC Thursday Men's League

Team No. 5 scored 17 points in the Pickaway Country Club's Thursday Men's League to maintain the lead with only a week to play in the first round.

Team Members are Howie Davis, Ron Kazmierczak, Luther Ferrell, Bob Wilson, Frank Estes, Phil Leahy, Paul Mayberry, Ralph Hovermale. They have a total of 63 points. Team No. 6 is in second place with 58½ points and Team No. 1 in third with 53½ points.

Steve Helwigen carded low gross with a 36 Thursday and Kazmierczak low net with a 32.

Tom Watson Leads Kemper Open

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Tom Watson is an impatient young man.

"I've been in position to win three, maybe four times this year," he said. "I haven't won yet. I'm getting impatient. I want to win."

Watson, an articulate 24-year-old in his third season on the pro golf tour, made the observation Thursday after his couse-record matching 65, seven under par. It gave him the first-round lead in the $250,000 Kemper Open.

Australian veteran Bruce Crampton was one shot back at 66 in this "designated tournament," one of three events on the schedule this season in which all of the game's leading players are required to compete.

"I had a chance to win last week in Memphis," said Watson, who has collected $62,000 this season but still lacks his first tour title. "I had a chance to win in Dallas. I had a chance to win in Los Angeles. And I was in pretty good shape in San Diego."

"My trouble is that I've been inconsistent."

"I just haven't finished as fast as I'd like to this year. I've had some good starts then let it get away."

"But I'm sure it will come."

Watson didn't miss a green, didn't make a bogey and, strangely enough, didn't make a birdie on any of the par five holes as he left the game's great players well behind.

Bert Yancey and Bob Menne each birdied the last three holes for 67s and a share of third. Hubert Green, a two-time winner this year and runner-up in last week's Memphis Open, was in a large group at 68.

At 69 were Billy Casper, Ben Crenshaw and Lanny Wadkins, who had a wildly erratic round that included eight birdies, three bogeys and a double bogey.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Masters champion Gary Player, Sam Snead, Lee Trevino and Lee Elder were in the group at 70. Johnny Miller, the reigning U.S. Open king and the sensation of the tour this season with five victories, was at 71. Defending title-holder Tom Weiskopf could do no better than match par 72 in the hot, muggy, and almost windless weather.

Watson, who has finished ninth or better seven times this season didn't get in serious trouble in his solid effort over the 7,085-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course.

Clay Kirby Feels Bad About Fielding

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Reds pitcher Clay Kirby's won-loss record is improving, but he's confounded by his fielding.

"I can't understand it," said the righthander, 3-3, who came to Cincinnati from San Diego in a trade for outfielder Bobby Tolan.

"I've never done it in the past. I might make one error a year, maybe two. 'But five in 10 starts?— Wow!'"

Kirby, who has won three in a row, came within one out of finishing his victory over the New York Mets Wednesday. He was relieved with two outs and two on in the ninth after heaving 150 pitches in the contest.

"I threw 200 one time against San Francisco and I went 7 and 2-3 innings. I only gave up three hits but I walked 10," he recalled.

But Kirby feels he and the Reds pitching staff are coming together following the current six-game winning streak.

"I feel like my rhythm is coming around. It has been on and off all year."

"I want to do good. The Reds traded for me for a reason. They wanted to beef up the pitching and get into first place, then be able to make it all the way."

"The way our pitching is now, with Fred Norman, Don Gullett, Jack Billingham, Roger Nelson and myself, I feel we can do it. If we get to the World Series, this staff is capable of going right through it."

The Reds tonight tangle with the Pittsburgh Pirates, who have a three-game winning streak. Jack Bingham, 6-3, faces Jim Rooker.

Bob Moose Has Surgery For Clot

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Moose has undergone 3½-hour surgery for removal of a blood clot from his pitching shoulder and the Pittsburgh Pirates say he'll need a "rather extensive" recovery period.

"But he's strong as a horse and a real competitor, and I can tell you he'll pitch again," team physician Dr. Joseph Finegold said after the operation Thursday evening.

Moose, 26, did some casual throwing in the bullpen Wednesday night during a game with San Diego. But his bicep was discolored and swollen to twice its normal size.

He was taken immediately to Presbyterian University Hospital, where tests revealed a clot in the vein beneath his right collarbone.

It was removed within 24 hours by Dr. Henry Bahnson, the surgeon known for performing Pittsburgh's first heart transplant.

Dr. Finegold, who was present in the operating room, later reported to Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh.

It followed Pittsburgh's 4-2 exhibition win here over its Class AA Charleston, W. Va., farm team. Richie Zisk hit a three-run homer to lead the Pirates to the victory.

PCC Ladies Play Bingo, Bango, Bongo Game

Bingo, Bango, Bongo was the game of the day for Pickaway Country Club ladies Thursday.

Mary Carpenter defeated Phyllis Williams for A Flight honors; Martee Bushee edged Ruth Marshall in B Flight; and Jeanne Shea topped Linda Ferguson in C Flight.

Play will begin at 9 a.m. next Thursday.

Willie's Dillies

By A Benchwarmer

Informed sources claim Willie's champing at the bit to escape from his Scioto St. home. Seems he's not the type to remain a house person for long.

"As the World Turns" and "General Hospital" aren't his cup of Constant Comment, so he takes some books from the shelf, fluffs up some pillows, and stretches out on the couch. And that can be awfully boring for a Bill-type person.

The doctors will release a preliminary progress report in a couple of weeks, and we sincerely hope it's a good one.

Youth baseball will fill Circleville's diamonds Monday with four games on the schedule, including two under the lights at Ted Lewis Park.

Three diamonds at the fairgrounds will be ready for play June 10.

As in the past, The Herald will carry schedules, standings, and results for each league.

However, to make our system as accurate as possible and to keep things current, we will accept previous day's scores and game highlights until 8 a.m. the following morning. Results after the deadline will be discarded.

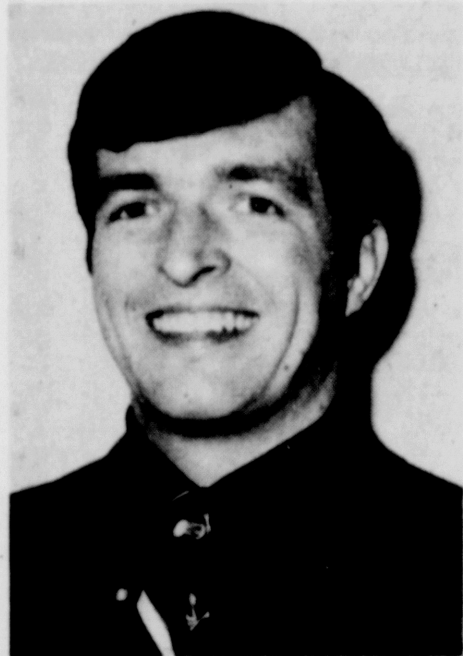

Scores should be reported on official Herald sheets available to each manager. Winning managers have the responsibility of reporting.

Fearless forecasting - The Reds will spoil the Riverfront Stadium debut of the Pirates ... the Indians will be poor hosts to Kansas City ... Odell Massie looks good in the Kemper Open ...

Until next time, be a good sport - have a nice day.

Logan Elm Names Head Grid Coach

Perry E. Griffith, a graduate of Worthington High School and Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, has been named head football coach at Logan Elm High School, succeeding Bob Stant.

PERRY E. GRIFFITH

Griffith, 28, was one of over 50 applicants for the position. Last year he was an assistant coach and administrative aide in the Universal Professional Football League.

His prior coaching experience includes a year at Delaware Hayes High School where he was varsity assistant and head freshman football coach and assistant wrestling coach. He served four years at Bexley High school on the football coaching staff, his last year as interim head coach. The Bexley squad had its first winning season in 14 years under Griffith with a 6-3 record. He was also head wrestling coach at Bexley.

During the 1972-73 year he was reserve football coach, coach of varsity receivers and defensive scout at the University of Dayton. In 1973 he coached at Centerville High School as defensive co-ordinator.

Griffith was a four year letterman in high school in both football and wrestling. He played one year of college football, gaining a starting birth as a freshman, but a knee injury ended his playing career.

Griffith will teach either biology or general science at Logan Elm. In addition to his bachelor of science degree, he holds a masters from the University of Dayton. He has a provisional high school principal's certificate.

Cleveland Indians Seeking Comeback

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians return home from their nine-game trip beaten — statistically and physically.

The Indians dropped six of their nine encounters on the road and slipped to fifth place in the American League East Division, two games under the .500 mark.

When they open their three-game series against the Kansas City Royals tonight four Tribe regulars will have question marks before their names in the starting lineup because of injuries received during their recent tour.

Third baseman Buddy Bell reinjured his knee, center fielder George Hendrick has an injured wrist, second baseman Jack Brohamer has an injured rib cage and John Lowenstein, who has been playing left field and third base, has an injured thumb.

Bell and Hendrick have been missing from the lineup completely because of their injuries. Lowenstein has been playing sporadically and Brohamer has been in the lineup with a lot of pain. Manager Ken Aspromonte is hoping for the return of Bell and Hendrick tonight when the Tribe's Steve Kline (7-7) goes against the Royals Al Fitzmorris (4-2).

The injuries forced Aspromonte to do some shuffling with his lineup. Lowenstein was moved from leftfield to thirdbase to replace Bell. Loren Lee has been playing leftfield and Rusty Torres has been seeing action in center.

When Lowenstein's thumb isn't feeling too well Aspromonte has been using Jack Heidemann at third-base. Pitcher Fritz Peterson may also miss his next turn in rotation. He pulled a muscle in his side in the second inning of the Tribe's game with the Texas Rangers on Wednesday.

On Saturday afternoon Jim Perry will be seeking his fourth victory against four defeats for the Tribe against the Royals Bruce Dal Canton (3-2).

Gaylord Perry will be out for his ninth consecutive victory on Sunday afternoon. Perry has recorded only one loss this season and that was on opening day against the Yankees in New York. The Royals have scheduled Paul Splittorff (5-4) for their Sunday mound chores.

Woman Now Stockholder In Rangers

DALLAS (AP) — A secret admirer of New York Mets owner Joan Payson now has a baseball team to call her own.

Sharon Simons, wife of wealthy Dallas investor-real estate developer Pollard Simons, became a major Texas Ranger shareholder this week.

Mrs. Simons was among the Dallas-Fort Worth group that purchased 90 per cent of the Rangers from Bob Short for an estimated $9 million.

She joins Mrs. Payson of the Mets as the only woman to own a large portion of a major league baseball franchise.

"I take it (baseball) very seriously," said Mrs. Simons, whose voice was hoarse Thursday after attending two Ranger games this week. "I get pretty excited and when the players deserve it, I yell and clap."

Mrs. Simons said her husband was approached first as a possible partner in the team, and his reply was, "Sharon's the one who's a baseball fan, you should go ask her." Simons first learned of his wife's love of baseball in 1961, when he asked his new bride what she would like to do more than anything and was surprised when she answered, "Let's get to the World Series."

Baltimore Ladies Golf Clash Opens

BALTIMORE (AP) — JoAnne Carner, coming off back-to-back tournament victories, says she's "ready to go again" in the $40,000 Baltimore Golf Championship opening today.

"For the first time, last week I felt like I was playing the way I did as an amateur," Mrs. Carner said before teeing off in the first round of the 54-hole tournament at the municipal Pine Ridge course.

When she joined the tour in 1970, Mrs. Carner was a five-time U.S. amateur champion and was expected to be an instant winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour.

Until winning the Bluegrass International at Louisville, Ky., and the Hoosier Classic at Plymouth, Ind., the past two weeks, she had not scored a tour victory since 1971.

"At Louisville I was getting weaker on the last nine holes and just wanted to get in before I fell apart," she said.

"But at Plymouth, I felt like I was getting stronger at the end. That's the way I used to play as an amateur."

Mrs. Carner was ranked as one of the favorites this week along with Kathy Whitworth and JoAnn Prentice, other double winners after 12 weeks of the tour.

Cubs Top Giants

CHICAGO (AP) — Sometimes it can be murder being a starter, but Bill Bonham has no plans to ask for a reprieve and a parole back to Chicago's bullpen.

Bonham, getting a chance as a starter for the Cubs in his second full major league season, calmed down after a shaky start Thursday and, despite being pecked apart by 11 San Francisco hits, committing a balk and unleashing a wild pitch, came away with a 5-3 victory over the Giants.

He got it because he also recorded seven strikeouts, several when he needed them most, and because Jerry Morales gave him the hit he needed most, a tie-breaking two-run double in the eighth inning.

In Thursday's only other National League game, Houston beat Montreal 4-3 in 10 innings.

The American League had the day off. For Bonham, a big righthander with a 4-8 record and a 4.40 earned-run average, it was his third complete game of the year. In 57 1-3 innings this season he's been tagged for 59 hits—but he's also come up with 53 strikeouts.

Bonham was touched for two runs in San Francisco's four-hit first in which he also committed the balk and issued one of his three walks. In seven of the next eight innings, the Giants' leadoff batter reached first base against him.

"My fast ball was hopping in the beginning, but I was pitching out of jams until midway in the game when I went to my changeup and I was getting it over," Bonham said.

Despite Bonham's struggle against the Giants, Chicago Manager Whitey Lockman said he "wasn't close to yanking him, except for the ninth inning after Tito Fuentes opened with a single."

Garry Maddox then flied out, so Lockman said he decided to let Bonham pitch through the next batter before considering a change. The next batter, Ed Goodson, grounded into a game-ending double play.

Contrary to Bonham, San Francisco's Elias Sosa enjoys coming out of the bullpen—or did until Thursday.

The Giants' ace reliever retired the first two Chicago batters in the eighth. But Jose Cardenal singled up the middle and Rick Monday walked, setting the stage for Morales' winning hit, a double off the left field wall. The Cubs handed Sosa his first setback of the season against five victories.

"Morales has been hitting in tough luck," Lockman said of his left fielder currently batting a shade over .240. "But his performance at the plate has been excellent. He has been making solid contact and it's only a question of time before his average will go up."

Maddox' single and Gary Thomasson's double produced San Francisco's first-inning run, with the single by Maddox extending his hitting streak to 14 games.

Billy Williams doubled and later came home on a double steal for a first-inning Chicago run. The Cubs tied it in the fourth when Williams opened with another double, took third on a bunt and scored on Rick Monday's infield out.

The Giants moved ahead 3-2 in the sixth on Dave Rader's leadoff single, a sacrifice and Fuentes' single. But the Cubs came back again in the bottom of the sixth on Don Kessinger's walk, Cardenal's single and Monday's sacrifice fly.

Astros 4, Expos 3

Tommy Helms, who doubled but had been cut down at the plate trying to score in the eighth inning, lashed a tie-breaking single in the 10th to give Houston its fourth straight victory and its third in a row over the Expos.

Milt May led off the 10th with a single and made it to second when first baseman Hal Breeden fielded Bob Gallagher's bunt and threw too late trying for the force. One out later, Helms singled to center.

The Astros pushed across a pair of first-inning runs and another in the seventh. Tommy Davis tied it for Montreal with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Smart Noble Winner Of Challenge Stakes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Smart Noble trotted the mile in a speedy 2:01 1-5 to capture the $12,500 Challenge Stake feature at Scioto Downs Thursday night.

Driven by Richard Midden, grandson of Hall of Fame driver Curly Smart of Delaware, Smart Noble's time was the fastest so far this season in North America by a four-year-old trotter.

The winner paid $9.40, $3.20 and $2.20. MacArthur returned $2.20 and $2.20 for second and Wingait Highball, $2.20 for show.

MVC Eyes Expansion

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — The Missouri Valley Conference wants to increase its membership, but policy makers aren't sure in which direction to proceed.

The mechanics and criteria for expanding the eight-team league may be determined by Saturday.

Expansion talk was given top priority after St. Louis University quit the league this week. It had been a member since 1937.

Memphis State University dropped out a year ago.

SLU officials said, "It is in our best interest to become an independent at this time."

Commissioner Mickey Holmes said Thursday night that any new university coming into the 67-year-old conference must have basketball and major status football programs.

He said the expansion matter is of "very serious concern" and it is "very doubtful that a new institution will be selected" at the conference meetings. However, he said a new member or members could be selected before September.

Present conference members are New Mexico State, Drake, Bradley, Tulsa, Louisville, West Texas State, North Texas State and Wichita State universities.

Holmes, who has been MVC commissioner two years, said there was no discussion Thursday of conference dissolution.

"We're closer together now," he said. "This is the core group right now."

FORD & CHEVY PICKUP BUYERS, HARD FACTS ABOUT DODGE.

DODGE PICKUP WITH 318 V8 GOT 18.78 MPG.

USAC PROVED IT: OUR DODGE 318 V8 CAN GET SLIGHTLY BETTER GAS MILEAGE THAN A FORD OR CHEVY SIX-CYLINDER PICKUP!

In an actual road test from LaVerne to Blythe, California (a distance of 381 miles), at an average speed of 54 mph, USAC put six competitive pickups through the test: two Chevrolet (a 250 6 and 350 V8), two Dodge (a 225 6 and 318 V8) and two Ford (a 250 6 and 302 V8). All pickups were purchased by USAC through regular retail channels. All had standard manual transmissions and rear axle ratios, as well as nominal eight-foot cargo boxes.

The Dodge 318 V8 got slightly better gas mileage than the other two V8s, as well as the Ford and Chevrolet 6-cylinder engines! Our 318 V8 got 18.78 mpg. Our 225 Slant Six did even better—19.05 mpg. Together, they got better gas mileage than everything else in the USAC test!

New Gasoline Additive Not Harmful To PC Devices

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An anti-knock compound for gasoline which doesn't destroy sensitive catalytic anti-pollution devices apparently has been developed by Air Force scientists.

Dr. Robert Sievers, chemistry researcher at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, said the additive still is in the testing stage, but "preliminary tests look promising." The compound has been patented by the Air Force "on behalf of the people," Sievers said. He said the Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. both have asked for samples of the new compound.

Sievers said he and two colleagues discovered the combination, which can be substituted for tetra-ethyl lead, the chief anti-knock compound now used in gasoline.

New exhaust systems with catalytic antipollution devices are poisoned by the lead content in present fuels, he said.

"Our expectation is that our new additive would not poison the new catalyst," he said.

Sievers said the most prominent compound in the additive is cerium, which he said is more abundant in the earth's crust than lead. He said the new additive could save refineries billions of dollars in costs in building new facilities for processing and storing fuels used in the "precious metal" exhaust systems.

He said the discovery grew out of Air Force research in the early 1960s. Sievers said he and Drs. Kent Eisentraut and Robert Tischer patented the formula in February on behalf of the Air Force.

Additional research is being conducted by the Molybdenum Corp. of America, White Plains, N.Y., he said. Sievers said tests on 1973 autos show the additive "promising from the standpoint of environmental pollution and extending fuel reserves."

Woman Fights Harassment In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Maytroit Richard sat behind her boarded living room window reading her hate mail. A member of the black Vietnam veterans group which has pledged to protect her family stood by.

"I'm afraid of my own shadow," said the black mother of six, whose West Side home has been the target of rocks, garbage and harassment since she moved into the previously allwhite neighborhood last summer.

At first uncertain about whether to flee from the violence, Mrs. Richard, whose children range from 9 months to 19 years old, now says she is determined to stay.

"I've lived with white people all my life," she said. "My parents were the second family in an East Side neighborhood they used to call 'Polish Town.'"

Two of the Richard boys played basketball nearby with several neighbors in sight of an unmarked police car.

Police have been guarding her modest home around the clock since last week. Mrs. Richard finally sought their help after a brick was thrown in her basement window. An inscription tied to the brick read: "Go home nigger—can you dig it?"

The Interested Veterans for Economic and Social Progress moved in Wednesday with a pledge of long-term protection.

"We are trained in the arts and crafts of warfare," said Robert Jones, a spokesman for the group, which claims 2,500 Michigan members. "We fought for this country and we should be able to live wherever we please."

Watergate Shook Eisenhowers

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower and her son say the Eisenhower family was "shaken" by the Watergate affair but is confident President Nixon will come out all right.

Retired Col. John Eisenhower and the former First Lady were at the U.S. Military Academy Thursday for dedication of a $22.3 million recreation building named for the late President Dwight Eisenhower.

Col. Eisenhower said, "Mother and everyone else in the family is confident the President will make it all right." Mrs. Eisenhower added, "I'm a Nixon person and have been for years, which everybody knows, including the President."

Sowle Resignation At OU Reaffirmed

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University President Claude R. Sowle will leave the school this fall.

Sowle reaffirmed his decision to resign his post effective about Sept. 1 in a letter to the chairman of the school's board of trustees Thursday after the board asked him to reconsider his May 19 announcement. The 46-year-old lawyer has held the post five years.

"Notwithstanding the very positive developments (at the university), I have concluded, after long and very careful deliberation, that I should reaffirm my decision to resign as president of Ohio University," Sowle said in a statement.

He said his resignation stemmed from a weekend of campus unrest, 51 demands on the school from a student coalition and "physical abuse" from a group of black students. The three events occurred in the week preceding his announcement.

The school is also facing a declining enrollment. The number of students at the Athens campus dropped 1,300 in 1972, the first decline in two decades, and enrollment has decreased ever since.

"I certainly don't think I am deserting a sinking ship," Sowle said on a radio program Thursday night, during which students and residents of southeastern Ohio telephoned questions and comments to Sowle on his resignation. Sowle said he really wished to remain at the university for at least another two years in order to bring the school through its financial problems.

"The good memories far outstretch the negative ones," Sowle told his audience.

Sowle said he expected an acting president would be named at the end of the summer to serve through mid-1975 to give a trustee search committee time to find a new chief executive.

The acting president probably would come from within the university or from a pool of college leaders who sometimes step in for interim periods in such cases, Sowle said.

The university's enrollment this school year was 15,896 and its operating budget $41 million.

Sowle, in an effort to boost enrollment and support of higher education, toured the state's metropolitan areas to explain the plight of the university.

He also visited southeastern Ohio communities, from which many of the students come.

Sowle said he was uncertain of his plans this fall. He said he would leave Athens in order not to peer over the shoulder of the incoming chief executive.

Sowle spent four years as dean of the College of Law at the University of Cincinnati and eight years on the faculty of Northwestern University's School of Law.

He was chairman of the Ohio Legislative Service Commission's technical committee to redraft the Ohio Criminal Code and member of the Ohio Committee on Crime and Delinquency.

During the radio program, listeners suggested that Sowle consider entering politics. Sowle declined, saying he didn't have "the bundle of bills" necessary to back a political campaign.

Watergate Shook Eisenhowers

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower and her son say the Eisenhower family was "shaken" by the Watergate affair but is confident President Nixon will come out all right.

Retired Col. John Eisenhower and the former First Lady were at the U.S. Military Academy Thursday for dedication of a $22.3 million recreation building named for the late President Dwight Eisenhower.

Col. Eisenhower said, "Mother and everyone else in the family is confident the President will make it all right." Mrs. Eisenhower added, "I'm a Nixon person and have been for years, which everybody knows, including the President."

Sowle Resignation At OU Reaffirmed

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University President Claude R. Sowle will leave the school this fall.

Sowle reaffirmed his decision to resign his post effective about Sept. 1 in a letter to the chairman of the school's board of trustees Thursday after the board asked him to reconsider his May 19 announcement. The 46-year-old lawyer has held the post five years.

"Notwithstanding the very positive developments (at the university), I have concluded, after long and very careful deliberation, that I should reaffirm my decision to resign as president of Ohio University," Sowle said in a statement.

He said his resignation stemmed from a weekend of campus unrest, 51 demands on the school from a student coalition and "physical abuse" from a group of black students. The three events occurred in the week preceding his announcement.

The school is also facing a declining enrollment. The number of students at the Athens campus dropped 1,300 in 1972, the first decline in two decades, and enrollment has decreased ever since.

"I certainly don't think I am deserting a sinking ship," Sowle said on a radio program Thursday night, during which students and residents of southeastern Ohio telephoned questions and comments to Sowle on his resignation. Sowle said he really wished to remain at the university for at least another two years in order to bring the school through its financial problems.

"The good memories far outstretch the negative ones," Sowle told his audience.

Sowle said he expected an acting president would be named at the end of the summer to serve through mid-1975 to give a trustee search committee time to find a new chief executive.

The acting president probably would come from within the university or from a pool of college leaders who sometimes step in for interim periods in such cases, Sowle said.

The university's enrollment this school year was 15,896 and its operating budget $41 million.

Sowle, in an effort to boost enrollment and support of higher education, toured the state's metropolitan areas to explain the plight of the university.

He also visited southeastern Ohio communities, from which many of the students come.

Sowle said he was uncertain of his plans this fall. He said he would leave Athens in order not to peer over the shoulder of the incoming chief executive.

Sowle spent four years as dean of the College of Law at the University of Cincinnati and eight years on the faculty of Northwestern University's School of Law.

He was chairman of the Ohio Legislative Service Commission's technical committee to redraft the Ohio Criminal Code and member of the Ohio Committee on Crime and Delinquency.

During the radio program, listeners suggested that Sowle consider entering politics. Sowle declined, saying he didn't have "the bundle of bills" necessary to back a political campaign.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You should do especially well now in projects which require careful organization, clever management. Don't let opposition dissuade you.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): If careful to guard against impulsive acts and words, the day should be generally smooth. A fine period for making travel plans.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Generally, a day for action, but be careful not to run out of bounds. On the other hand, delaying tactics could also be unwise. Judge carefully.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Be cautious in dealing with associates. Some may urge you to make certain commitments against your better judgment. Don't let yourself be pressured.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Stars warn against vacillating, changing plans or projects before they have been given a fair chance to prove themselves. Steady does it!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): The odds are against you right now, so it's no time to tackle the opposition. Postpone action until Monday when you'll have a better chance of getting what you want.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Be cautious in making directives and taking others' feelings for granted. Alertness and flexibility of thought will help you to safer, quicker conclusions.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly individualistic and so versatile that you could succeed in almost any field of your choice—with the proper training, of course; could especially excel in writing, music or any occupation which involves travel. Your yen for travel, in fact, could lead you into the field of exploration, with great success. You are highly imaginative, original in your thinking and enjoy association with alert, progressive people. No matter what career you finally settle upon, however, your originality will evidence itself. On the personal side, you are gregarious, warm-hearted and generous almost to a fault. Try to conquer tendencies toward extreme moodiness, however. Birthdate of: Brigham Young, founder of the Mormons; Pat Boone, popular Amer. singer.

NEW YORK (AP) — Guitarists tend to be a picky lot, but a magazine specifically written for them has been trying of late to strum up some business with a unique radio approach.

Ernest Beyl, a spokesman for "Guitar Player Magazine," says the approach consists of 13 half-hour taped programs that illustrate differing guitar styles as played by the greats of the instrument.

Alas, this pluckum forum isn't heard on commercial radio. Beyl says it's only been heard on about 50 college campus radio stations and wasn't really intended as a commercial radio program.

In fact, he says the stations got the programs free simply by asking for them. He said the idea was to interest college-area guitarists in subscribing to the magazine by offering them a taste of what the professionals are doing, accompanied by a soft-sell pitch for GPM.

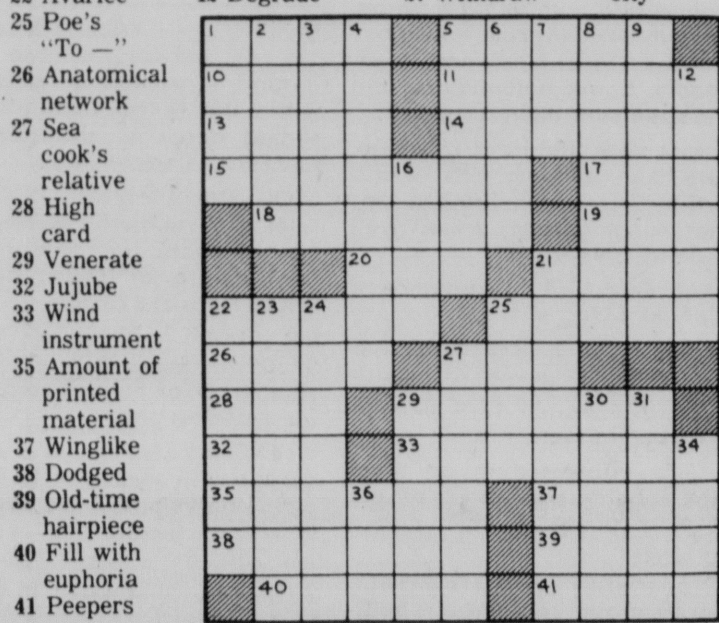

"So we started hunting for suitable colleges that had radio stations with a loose enough format to accommodate something like that," he said, adding that the shows began airing about six months ago.

Beyl, whose publication is based in Los Gatos, Calif., 50 miles south of San Francisco, said the musical commentator on the series is Jim Crockett, editor of the seven-year-old magazine.

Cleveland Browns Losing Players

CLEVELAND (AP) — The list of Cleveland Browns signing World Football League contracts continues to grow and owner Art Modell insists he will not break his policy on no cut contracts.

Wide receiver Fair Hooker and offensive lineman Bob McKay are the latest players said to have signed WFL contracts to begin playing in 1975.

Hooker with the Jacksonville Sharks and McKay with the Chicago Fire.

"I've been told, our proposals were as good, if not better, than what was offered by the WFL," Modell said. "The only difference being that, as previously stated, I will not grant guaranteed no cut contracts to any player."

Modell had problems with the Browns' No. 1 draft choice Billy Corbett, who went to the Canadian Football League because the Browns wouldn't give him a no cut clause in his contract.

"It's difficult enough to motivate a player when his job is at stake," Modell said, "let alone motivate him when he is guaranteed his pay

Portraits Of The Season

By JIM BISHOP

Springtime . . . Warm showers hissing winter off the stage. Little schoolboys running into little schoolgirls on purpose. A tired truck radiator opening a sauna on a highway. New freckles — polka-dotted noses.

An old lady rocking on a porch under a shawl. Granite mountains frowning under ermine stoles. In the middle of a big farm, a solitary bean spreads both hands to heaven. The yellow lace of forsythia. A rain spout gargles its throat noisily and spits out the last sliver of ice.

The brazen breeze with its indecent intimacy around pretty girls. A traffic cop with a tiara of sweat diamonds on his forehead. The irritation of migratory birds arguing over last year's apartments in the trees. Cold cereal with a harbor full of floating ships.

Big pink hair ribbons. A cold beer shedding tears over its fate. The sharp crack of a bat against a ball. A picnic tablecloth, runway for fat bees. Small brooks sparkling, skidding and sliding over smooth stones in a scenic railway ride to the river.

The gummy grin of an infant, as young as spring itself. A timid full moon, blushing orange over the trees. The first fireflies, blinking their taillights for night traffic. Big city clerks lunching on a patch of green.

An old man and a farm gully, counting each other's wrinkles. The light lift of long curtains when the living room windows are open. On the highway, pools of water ahead which are never there. Early corn with mandarin whiskers. The smell of bacon and wood smoke in the morning.

An arm full of books, the handcuffs of the student. Pussy willow on a teacher's desk. The tumultuous sea, scrubbing sandy beaches over and over. Black earth cracked like a freshly baked cake.

Faint stars in the night sky, the peepholes of paradise. The shrieks of girls at a shower when the gifts are opened. Bathing suits, smaller than a baby's diaper, in store windows. Boys, in a church choir, whose voices are changing. Tomboys who have suddenly become fragile, feminine and futile.

Nature's nicest crystals, tulip cups, shivering as they wait to be filled with rain. Daddy's dangerous practice swings with a five iron in the living room. Cold cuts for Sunday supper.

Thunder, growling like an old dog as it races across the sky. Winter clothing, hanged by a merciless posse in the attic. A shiny earthworm, whispering "Up periscope." A thousand reruns of television. Screeches of pain from a rusty lawn mower.

A new coiffure, new shoes and a floppy hat perform a miracle — make a new woman. Drying sheds playing a harmonica on the wind. A new white stripe down the main street.

A strong sun and the smell of hot tar. Hot dogs which delight the taste buds and insult the stomach. Lawn sprinklers making peacock rainbows in the sun.

Peeling paint. Mother ducks ordering babies into the water; they speak like drill sergeants. The frenzy of fear before that first hit off the first tee. Mother wondering what is left in the closet that will do one more year.

Hanging a hammock too early. Gray squirrels on gray bark holding their breath until people go away. Boats up on wooden cradles insulted because their bottoms are being caulked. A mirror lake shattered by a skipping stone.

The unexpected stubbornness of storm windows. Giggling girls who seldom see the movie at the drive-in. Nigh study on the floor for those cruel, inevitable final examinations. The plaintive plea, "Can I go barefoot, Mom?"

Young trees, like young people, showing off their finery first.

The grace of a white sloop, nodding a greeting to each wave. The boss, dreaming vacantly behind his polished desk. The powder blue vault of a morning sky. Boy Scout troops, laden with gear, off on an overnight hike.

Overshoes weeping in the front hall. Pale buds on a dark hedge. The first housefly, making a refueling stop at the dining room table. The fat farm horse, head down, pulling a plow, the ultimate in patience. Bluebirds hiding everything they can't eat.

Ohio Food Prices Decline Slightly, AP Survey Shows

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The good news for Ohio supermarket food shoppers this month came at the meat counter.

Three meat items priced in 14 cities by The Associated Press showed price declines ranging from 4.4 to 7.7 per cent—enough to bring the total cost of the 14-item marketbasket down four cents.

Eggs—used as leaders in some cities—brought a sharply lower average price of 48 cents a dozen, contributing to the marginal drop in food.

But, sugar and chocolate chip cookies jumped in price, almost offsetting lower meat prices. Five pounds of granulated sugar rose to an average Ohio price of $1.21, up nearly 12 per cent.

Chocolate chip cookies, a shopping favorite, bounced up 14 per cent to an average of 92 cents for a 14 and one-half ounce bag.

A spokesman for a major Ohio supermarket chain said the end for escalating sugar and cookie prices is not in sight.

“The carload lot wholesale price for sugar in five-pound bags right now is $1.50,” said the spokesman.

“Everyone is selling sugar at a loss. On cookies, chocolate is out of sight. Why, last fall cocoa was 65 cents a pound and this spring it is $1.03. Sugar, another principal cookie ingredient, is 30 cents a pound bulk now against 13 cents a pound last fall.”

In the 14 cities shopped, sugar prices ranged from 57 cents in Zanesville to $1.49 in Columbus.

Chopped chuck showed the biggest drop among the meat items, lowering from $1.27 a pound a month ago to $1.16 a pound today.

The Columbus supermarket spokesman sounded a shopping warning on this item. “We don’t use chopped chuck any more,” he said. “A lot of stores have kept the old title, but they don’t grind just chuck but several cuts of meat.”

“If a market grinds just lean chuck then it should sell at about $1.29 a pound.”

All-beef frankfurters dropped 7.4 per cent, from $1.23 to $1.14 a pound and center cut pork chops edged down about 4.4 per cent, from $1.39 to $1.35 a pound.

“If they’re really selling center cut pork chops, the price ought to be from $1.39 to $1.49 a pound. Meat wholesale prices have been easing off, a bit lower, but not greatly so.”

Medium grade A eggs ran 62 cents a dozen last month, but somewhat increased supplies and four or five cities where they were used as leaders provided the sharply lower 48-cents-a-dozen average recorded by the AP survey today.

The 14 cities shopped in the survey included Akron, Athens, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Conneaut, Dayton, Lima, Massillon, Toledo, Van Wert, Youngstown, Coshocton and Zanesville.

The marketbasket covered pork chops, ground chuck, beef frankfurters, eggs, butter, chocolate chip cookies, orange juice, paper towels, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, sugar.

There was little decisive movement in other shopped items.

Massillon remained the cheapest of all the cities to shop, reporting a total price of $9.27 for the 14 items, just shading Zanesville which was helped by the 57-cent price for five pounds of sugar.

On the average, the basket cost $10.50 compared to $10.54 a month ago.

Gasoline Allocation To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government’s gasoline allocation program will continue at least through this summer, but allocation of residual fuel oil may be suspended, Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill says.

Sawhill told reporters Thursday that the Federal Energy Office had begun a plan to phase out the petroleum allocation but that it did not necessarily mean the system would be dismantled before the legal authority for allocations expires next Feb. 28.

He said allocation of distillate fuel oils, which include diesel fuel and home-heating oil, will be reviewed this fall as the winter heating season approaches.

Current inventories of residual fuel oil “are in pretty good shape,” Sawhill said, but could come under pressure this fall if the expiration of the coal miners’ national labor contract results in a strike.

In any case, he added, the residual-oil allocation could be suspended for 90 days, with the option of resuming it if a coal shutdown takes place.

Sawhill also said he thought that U.S. domestic petroleum production would level off, with 1975 output matching this year’s.

Coal production probably would improve if Congress passes acceptable legislation regulating strip-mining and reconciling coal-burning with clean-air standards, Sawhill said.

More High Prices For Oil Feared

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil company officials warn that Americans could again be paying high prices for scarce fuel if nations controlling most of the world’s oil exports decide to increase oil taxes.

A plan now under consideration by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) will raise prices at the gasoline pump if it is adopted, according a major oil company official.

The executive also said the United States could again experience supply problems since the higher taxes could eliminate marginal oil operators.

Insurance Chief Raps Blue Cross

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio’s insurance director, Kenneth DeShetler, says Blue Cross subscribers have paid premiums for the last decade that insured hospital reimbursement for inflationary practices.

In a 25-page white paper, DeShetler warned the seven Blue Cross plans they will be denied rate increases until they demonstrate “good faith action” on each of ten guidelines.

DeShetler said Thursday, despite the Blues’ non-profit charter with the state under which taxes are reduced by more than half, the plans respond only to increasing hospital costs and take no action to cut costs for subscribers.

The guidelines demand an end to duplication of services and especially hospital beds, calculated in 1969 at an excess of 3,600 with 9,000 more planned each year.

DeShetler is asking a goodfaith effort by the four plans not now experimenting with reimbursement for other than hospitalization health care ... out-patient treatment and clinic services.

The department submitted a bill in the General Assembly to erase the old prohibition against claims for anything but hospital care.

Legislative action in 1971 directed the seven plans to represent subscribers.

But DeShetler’s report charges pre-existing and “self-perpetuating” boards of trustees “tend to limit consumer influence.” He indicated 163 of 176 public trustees last year were selected by incumbent board members.

Since Ohio community hospitals in 1972 alone handled over $1 billion in revenues, the report says even small percentage savings from better financial management could save millions of subscriber dollars.

The prescription is for hospital use of generic instead of brand-name drugs — at a savings of 5-to-8 per cent, central purchasing and consolidated administration to eliminate duplication in personnel.

“As an agent acting on behalf of its subscribers, Blue Cross has a clear obligation to insure subscribers are treated fairly,” the report says of the rule calling for utilization review committees.

The committees would allow for patient grievances to be heard and keep patients aware of high-cost hospital stays.

A survey quoted in the report shows Ohioans stayed 5 per cent longer under Blue Cross than patients hospitalized in any other state in the central U.S.

The proposal with perhaps the most clout would establish “prospective reimbursement,” — strictly negotiated rates of payment and not payment for costs above that rate.

DeShetler says the Blues have “acted in a sophisticated manner as bill collectors for the hospitals. They see their role as paying hospitals and not raising a fuss.”

And the report notes court agreement with the director’s interpretation of state law that Blue Cross must seek control of inflationary practices.

"As an agent acting on behalf of its subscribers, Blue Cross has a clear obligation to insure subscribers are treated fairly," the report says of the rule calling for utilization review committees.

The committees would allow for patient grievances to be heard and keep patients aware of high-cost hospital stays.

A survey quoted in the report shows Ohioans stayed 5 per cent longer under Blue Cross than patients hospitalized in any other state in the central U.S.

The proposal with perhaps the most clout would establish "prospective reimbursement," — strictly negotiated rates of payment and not payment for costs above that rate.

DeShetler says the Blues have "acted in a sophisticated manner as bill collectors for the hospitals. They see their role as paying hospitals and not raising a fuss."

And the report notes court agreement with the director's interpretation of state law that Blue Cross must seek control of inflationary practices.
